Nobody Would Listen to Him

Child Leads Rescuers To Pal's Body in Well

Little Boy Revived By Father

CHEMAINUS — A two-year-old child led searchers to an old, water-filled well yesterday where the unconscious body of his playmate was floating.

More than 15 minutes earlier he had tried to warn grown-ups of the accident but could not make himself understood.

Revived after being unconscious more than 15 minutes was Keith Hess, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Hess, North Chemainus Highway, who was partially revived by his father with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

GOOD CONDITION

He is in good condition at Chemainus Hospital.

His pal, Carl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Allester, had returned home about noon to tell his mother that Keith was in the creek and all wet.

She didn't pay any attention to him until Keith didn't answer to his mother's call. "Then it dawned on me what might have happened so we rushed to the creek," she said. "There was no water in it so we called Carl and he took us to the well."

WATER AT TOP

Mrs. Allester said the water was at the top of the well and all she had to do was pull the unconscious boy out. He had been in it at least 15 minutes.

Partial breathing was restored and Keith had started to tremble when oxygen equipment was brought by the Chemainus fire department.

He evidently pushed aside a cover over the deserted well on the property of George Robinson, another neighbor. "I could hardly lift it to put it back. I don't know how a three-year-old boy could move it," said Mrs. Allester.

QUICK RESPONSE

Reeve Donald Morton, near the firehall when the fire department answered the call, gave the volunteers "credit for very quick response to the alarm."

Cuba Splitting U.S., Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is expected to impose strong economic sanctions against Cuba's Castro regime within the next 24 hours.

The move is certain to open a new Canadian-American rift because of Canada's unwillingness to join with its North American neighbor in the action.

Lurking in the background is the continually controversial question of American subsidiary companies operating in this country and their reaction to the differing national policies.

Official sources said economic relations with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's government were the subject of "continuing discussions" between Washington and Ottawa. But they discounted reports that it had reached the stage of a dispute.

A U.S. embargo on Cuban trade would lose much of its effectiveness if the needed machinery and parts of American specification were available to Castro through Canada. With this in mind, it was learned, the U.S. government has asked Canada's co-operation.

Canada's answer was made clear several days ago in a comment by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that Canada had "no intention whatsoever" of placing an embargo on Cuban trade.

Observers believe the government's refusal to join the United States in Cuban sanctions will result in pressure on U.S. subsidiaries through their parent companies to adhere to American policy anyway.

A-Bomb Gift

Atomic bomb will be given to NATC nations by President Eisenhower immediately after November U.S. elections, former French premier Paul Reynaud predicted yesterday. He opposed the move.

Education Report On Way

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of B.C. said Tuesday his report on education in British Columbia will be in the hands of the government next week.

He said the 800-page report will recommend an extensive revamping of the educational system in the province.

He said it is up to the government when the report will be made public.

Vancouver Pay Higher

Victoria Wages Soar Ahead of Living Cost

Average wages for some Greater Victoria jobs in the past four years increased as much as five times more than the rise in the cost of living, a B.C. government report shows.

Nevertheless, in almost every case, a worker in Victoria is paid less than his Vancouver counterpart.

The information is contained in the annual wage and salary rate survey of the bureau of economics and statistics and covers the average wages for 33 selected occupations from junior clerk to janitor. The survey covered 661 B.C. firms with 90,000 employees.

WHOPPING JUMP

Between July, 1956, and July of this year heavy equipment operators saw their wages increase by a whopping 38.9 per cent in Victoria. Lowest increase in average salaries during the same period was the 9.5 per cent received by light truck drivers.

The bureau said the consumers' price index, generally taken as the cost of living, during this period rose by about 7 per cent.

OTHER FIGURES

Percentage increases for some occupations: junior clerk-typist, 14 per cent; senior clerk-typist, 16.7 per cent; junior stenographer, 20.9 per cent; stenographer, 19.7 per cent; bookkeeper, 13.4 per cent; telephone operator, 22.4.

Draughtsman, 9.8 per cent; janitor, 14.4 per cent; medium truck driver, 26.1 per cent; car mechanic, 28.2 per cent; carpenter, 31.7 per cent; labor foreman, 25.5 per cent.

Worst off is a draughtsman in training. Average wage in Victoria is $175 a month, in Vancouver $301.

Scarlet Fever Cases Doubled in Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The incidence of scarlet fever and "strep" throat more than doubled in Canada last year. There were more cases than in any year since 1924, when national records first were kept.

The bureau of statistics list showed 22,607 cases of the disease, an increase of 103.3 per cent from 1958.

Worst Fire Since Blitz

MANCHESTER (Reuters) —One of the worst fires since the wartime blitz roared through a warehouse in the heart of this northern England industrial city early today.

The fire sent flames shooting 100 feet high from the six-storey, 300-foot-long building filled with furniture and cotton goods.

The fire could be seen 10 miles away.

Mother's Signal

Eye Sign Foils Kidnap Plot

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped baby foiled the abductor's ransom scheme Tuesday by sending out a distress signal with her eyes, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

This is the story the FBI told:

James Reinhardt, 24, a friend of Mrs. Betty Utterback, a widow, went to the Utterback home and left with her 21-months old daughter, saying he was taking the child on a shopping trip.

Fifteen minutes later Reinhardt returned without the baby and told Mrs. Utterback he wanted $8,500 for her return.

Reinhardt forced Mrs. Utterback to accompany him to her bank and stood near her as she started to make a withdrawal, the FBI said.

"She gave me a sign with her eyes that something was wrong," said bank operations officer Barney L. Kotrbe.

Kotrbe gave a sign to another employee, who called the FBI.

Kotrbe said he stalled as long as he could, then gave Mrs. Utterback a bag containing $8,500.

FBI agents entered as Reinhardt and the woman were leaving. Reinhardt was seized; the child was recovered safely.

Civil Defence Rally

Mayors, Reeves Doze As Lecturer Drones

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Mayor L. A. Read said Monday night a recent Western conference on civil defence in Edmonton was so boring that mayors and reeves attending had a hard time staying awake.

The mayor told city council that because of untrained lecturers the 80 municipal leaders gained little from the conference.

British Columbia delegates were so disturbed they held a caucus and Reeve Allan Emmott of Burnaby was appointed to express the group's dissatisfaction.

Mayor Read said the lectures lasted 3½ days and the meeting "became for most of us very boring."

"One cause was that these lecturers had not been trained. They were army or air force or navy personnel who had been retired and put into these jobs."

Without criticizing the speakers' enthusiasm and depth of knowledge, he felt they could have been a little more "magnetic."

Dag Fights Budget Slice

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) —Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold struck back Tuesday at Russia's attempt to cut the UN budget. He said the Soviet move would rob the UN of "its possibilities of action in the preservation of peace."

Hammarskjold's 1961 budget is $67,500,000; Russia wants a $50,000,000 ceiling.

Blamed for Divorce Rate

Love and Honor But No Obey

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville of the Supreme Court of Ontario Monday night attributed the high divorce rate in North America to the dropping of the word "obey" from some marriage ceremonies. He said men are faced with the choice of being family tyrants or family mops.

Speaking to Toronto Board of Trade, Mr. Justice Landreville said:

"In the vast majority of divorces it's the man's fault. From the Orient to Holland the man dominates and rules. But here the dropping of the obey has made it a 50-50 partnership.

"All is well when the husband and wife agree, but the emancipation of women being what it is means that the wife at times has opinions that differ from her man.

"Then it's a tie and there's no one to settle it. First comes tension, then a cold war and shifting of affections. Then comes estrangement and finally two or three years later—divorce."

To State Medicine

Onus Put on Doctors To Provide Option

REGINA (CP) — General secretary Dr. A. D. Kelly of the Canadian Medical Association said Tuesday the medical profession must be prepared to offer a solution to state medicine.

DR. A. D. KELLY

In an attack on the Saskatchewan CCF government's prepaid compulsory medical plan, to be in operation early in 1962, Dr. Kelly told the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons convention compulsory, tax-supported programs are neither necessary or desirable.

Dr. Kelly said doctors must propose an acceptable alternative to compulsory medical care plans that will do justice to the needs of the people and allow doctors to work harmoniously and in co-operation.

He said the Saskatchewan college is working on an alternative proposal to present to the government.

"It's not for me to spell out the details of this proposal but I assure you it is under very serious study."

Full Health Insurance New Party's Target

LAKEFIELD, Ont. (CP)—Ontario CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald said Tuesday night a full health insurance plan for all Canadians is a major plank in the New Party's platform now being drafted for submission to the founding convention in Ottawa next summer.

He said some 50 university professors from across Canada will meet in Toronto this weekend "to do a solid job of rethinking on some of the more difficult areas of public policy" in preparation for the final draft of the New Party program.

Some Chinese Boys Too Cocky, Can't Be Trusted, Says Judge

DUNCAN—A 14-year-old Chinese boy was warned in juvenile court yesterday that he could be deported if he didn't behave.

"If you don't behave the government will send you back to China. Things aren't very good in China," warned Judge A. C. Sutton.

The youth had pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault against a woman. He was found delinquent and placed on probation for six months, with an order to stay out of the family's yard and to refrain from swearing.

"Fifty or 60 years ago the Chinese were good citizens. But some of the modern boys are a nuisance and can't be trusted. Quite a few are too cocky," said the judge.

Welcome Your Chest Canvasser This Week

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A small black dog with white paws comes trotting among the children playing in the school yard.

Some children stop him and pat his head. He stays with them for a few seconds, to acknowledge the greeting, but anyone can see that he is only being polite. He is looking for someone.

School has been out for only a few minutes. Some children are on their way home. Others are scattered in groups, playing tag, or throwing a ball or skipping a rope.

The dog threads his way purposefully from one group to another, sniffing at each child in turn.

Then he lowers his nose and follows an invisible trail on the ground, looping and twirling around in several directions.

Perhaps he has picked up the trail of his particular child.

One in Hundreds

There is a difficult job for the sharpest nostrils—to follow one child's track in all the hundreds that weave around a schoolyard. You might as well try to single one gnat out of a swarm and trace it.

The dog soon loses the track in the welter of alien smells, and returns to his former method of sniffing each child in turn.

Somewhere in that throng is one child who has just the right blend of smells about him—the compound smell of home. It may be a blend of and a certain kind of soap.

If dogs could talk, they wouldn't have much to say, because human languages have only a meagre vocabulary of smell-words. There are only a few crude words to express an infinite number of shades and combinations of smell.

If evolution had taken a different turn, and the world had produced highly intelligent and sophisticated dogs, they would probably have smell galleries as humans have art galleries and libraries now.

Embalm Smells

Clever canine artists would find a way to blend and embalm smells in such a way as to produce a special effect on the nose and the feelings.

The smell galleries would conjure up the whole world of doggy experience. There would be smells of pheasant, old bone, warm wood fire and master's tobacco pipe. There would be classical smells and abstract smells.

But the dog in the schoolyard has no way of telling anyone what mixture of smells he was looking for, to identify his child. So he rambled on through the crowds of children, sampling the cuffs and shoes of all of them in turn.

Evidently he came to school every day about this time, to meet the child. Today, however, he failed. The child must have gone home early. The dog bustled out of the schoolyard, down an alley and back again, and then set off busily along the street, with the same purposeful air, as if he knew exactly where he was going.

Winter Jobs Planned

Hard-Hit Indians May Find Work

A series of winter work projects designed specifically to help serious unemployment on Indian reserves—including those in the hard-hit west coast section of Vancouver Island — are being planned for the coming months.

A spokesman for the Indian affairs department in Vancouver said yesterday for a start the winter works projects will be initiated by the department to provide as many jobs as possible right away. But later projects will be worked out in co-operation with various band councils.

REASONABLE PLAN

"We would consider any reasonable project that the councils come forward with," said the official. He said a survey of suitable projects was started by the department last summer and the scheme is expected to be working before the end of this year.

The spokesman said winter work projects on the reserves will cover clean-up of villages, tearing down of useless buildings, laying plank sidewalks, clearing brush from roads, waterworks, cutting wood fuel for indigents, and building roadside fences.

Money from band funds would be used to pay the same percentage of costs as municipalities under the cost-sharing plan with provincial and federal authorities.

Chiefs and councilmen of Vancouver Island Indian bands said hundreds of their people face starvation unless employment is provided for them during the winter months. They blamed a poor fishing season and commercial fishing restrictions during the winter.

$20,000

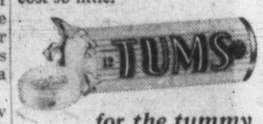

Officials said yesterday approval is expected shortly of winter works projects totalling $20,000 for labor and materials on the Cowichan, East Saanich, Qualicum and Shell Beach reserves.

In addition, $18,000 worth of housing construction will be carried out during the winter on the Cowichan reserve as part of the Duncan area winter works program.

There will also be a new ferry float built on Kuper Island.

Tummy turmoil on eat-and-run days?

Probably—but you don't have to suffer heartburn or acid indigestion! Not when you keep TUMS handy. Just eat one or two of these mild, minty tablets —no water or glass needed— and get fast relief from stomach discomfort. No after-taste with TUMS. Take TUMS any time, any place. Carry a roll in your purse or pocket. And TUMS cost so little.

Bogus Century Notes Appear in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police yesterday warned city merchants to watch for counterfeit $100 bills. Two have appeared here in the last few days, one cashed at a downtown department store Monday in purchase of a $15 sweater.

Another was cashed at a shoe store last week.

Your Good Health

Surest TB Test Is Chest X-Ray

By Joseph G. Molner, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about the tuberculosis tests given in the schools? Do they tell if a child has the germ or not?—H.M.L."

* * *

"Dear Doctor: What is the difference between active and inactive TB? They say inactive TB isn't catching. Does it still go through the lungs like active TB?—Mrs. M.S."

* * *

Most or all of us come in contact with the tuberculosis germ, casually on the street or in school or somewhere, but tuberculosis is not likely to develop swiftly after a single exposure. Repeated exposures may build up enough total effect until one exposure finally develops the disease itself—a case of the germ that broke the camel's back, if you like.

Very modest exposure is sufficient to cause a skin test to show there has been contact with the germ.

If the skin test is positive, some further inquiry is needed. Fever, cough, fatigue and night sweats are among the symptoms which may or may not mean TB. The surer test is a chest X-ray, which will detect even early tuberculosis in both children and adults.

We may stop the spread of TB and the multiplication of germs. The patient's sputum, in this "inactive" phase, no longer sprays TB germs as he breathes, coughs or sneezes. So he is no longer a peril to those around him.

But some of the germs may be lying more or less dormant, perhaps sealed off by scar tissue, in the lung. "Inactive" TB doesn't "spread through the lungs," nor is it catching. But we do like to make periodic examination of former patients just to be sure that the inactive TB isn't becoming active again.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Isn't it harmful for a person with arthritis and degeneration of the joints to spend a lot of time outdoors in the sun?—Mrs. A.L."

* * *

No, indeed. In fact, the heat and ultra-violet from the sun may ease some of the discomfort.

Note to Mrs. L. M.: While I have expressed myself in opposition to any needless use of X-ray or fluoroscopes, you needn't worry about them for reasonable health examinations.

Drive Starts Today

43,000 Homes Target of Chest

Fifteen hundred Community Chest canvassers will start today to call at 43,000 homes in the Greater Victoria area — from Sooke to Sidney — seeking donations which they hope will add up to more than $65,000.

"We realize that a lot of people will have given at their places of employment," a Chest official said yesterday, "but we hope the home-makers in these cases will want to do something too as their share in the community responsibility, and lots of little, bits, we hope, will add up to a big bit for the Chest and its 22 agencies."

The residential campaign is expected to take three days, apart from "callbacks" where residents are out when canvassers call. The callbacks are expected to take until the end of the month.

Mrs. J. Beattie McLean, residential canvass chairman, has asked that the volunteer canvassers be treated with courtesy. The number of volunteers ready to help the Chest this year, executive secretary A. G. Gilmore said, "is very pleasing. We are all quite impressed with the friends the Chest has."

Donations received at Chest headquarters up to last night totalled $79,674.

Launderette

Trial Begins

Trial of Grant Shaver, no fixed address, on a charge of breaking, entering and theft last July 12 at the Sparkle-Bright Launderette, 2584 Quadra, opened before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane and a 12-man jury in Assize Court yesterday.

First witness was Edward Warburton, owner of a bakery diagonally across the corner from the launderette, who told of arriving at his shop at 3.55 a.m. July 12 and seeing three men on the sidewalk near the launderette.

He watched, from his car and then from the dark interior of his store, and saw two men enter the launderette while the third stayed outside. For a brief time the men inside were out of his view, then he saw them open a coin cigaret machine near the window.

He knew this machine could only be opened by a key, so he telephoned police.

Successful Contest

Women Win First Places In Mt. Douglas Trail Ride

Some 48 horses and riders took part in a highly successful trail ride contest in the Mt. Douglas backwoods during the weekend.

The ride, organized by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mesher, 4047 Blenkinsop Road, started from their property. While the mountain ride was under way for senior and intermediate contestants, 13 juniors competed in a field ride at the assembly grounds.

Trophies donated by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jewell, Speedway Motors and the Vancouver Island Pony Breeders' Association went to division winners Mrs. Ron Trickett, senior division; Miss Helen Stratford, intermediate, and Arlene Zannet, junior.

Mrs. Trickett's mount, Billy Ascot, was judged best senior performer, with Babe, ridden by Bob Grimshaw, second; Bob Shanks on Venture, third, and Buckshee, ridden by Ron Trickett, fourth.

Second to Miss Stratford's Spats in intermediates was Duffy, ridden by Roy Passmore. Remus, owned by Queen Margaret's School and ridden by David Batty of Duncan, was third. Tifara, owned by Mrs. C. C. Carpenter and ridden by Miss Pat Donaldson, was fourth.

Second in the juniors to Arlene Zannet's Thunder was Fawn, ridden by her sister Adele. Third was Little Jack Horner, ridden by Lee Atkinson, and fourth Diablo, ridden by Bobby Stanlake.

Four Speak Today In 4-H Competition

Four-H contestants will battle it out for top positions in the final round of the Malahat south council public speaking contest at 8 p.m. today in the Flame Room of the B.C. Electric building.

After several contests competitors have been narrowed down to four, two in the senior division and two in the junior division.

They are Heather Thomas of the Luxton 4-H poultry club and Ward Bishop of the Saanich 4-H Holstein club, seniors; Jean Money of the South Saanich 4-H goat club and Cheryl Moyer of the North Saanich 4-H goat club, juniors.

Trophies will be awarded to the winner in each division and will be presented by the Victoria Kiwanis Club. The two will then meet to decide a single champion.

Judging the speakers will be Allen Wilson, president of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, Dr. Lucille Wilson, assistant pathologist and director of the isotope laboratory at Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Norman Putman, field-crops commissioner for the provincial department of agriculture.

Soapbox Orators Ready

Scott Stands Down Socialists Go First

Battle lines are drawn for Sunday's meeting of the soapbox orators at Speakers' Corner in Beacon Hill Park.

When the smoke cleared yesterday it appeared the Socialist Party of Canada had won the preliminary skirmish. It had originally lobbied for the "little Hyde Park plan" approved by city council on a one-year trial basis, but ran into opposition in its bid to be first to hold forth.

W. A. Scott, city second hand dealer, said he had belatedly agreed to grant the Socialists the first half hour "free of all interuptions."

"On the dot of 3 p.m. I'll put up my own soapbox alongside them," promised Mr. Scott. "If people still want to listen to the Socialists . . . I'll bay to the moon.

"But I will have my box there and my handbell."

Mr. Scott said to avoid a "procedural wrangle of the kind they have at the UN" he offered to wait quietly. In return he asked to be invited to the Socialist platform at 3 p.m. but was refused.

Huffed Christopher Luff, 77, secretary-treasurer of the party: "What right has (Mr. Scott) to ask to be the first speaker. We fought for it. He did not do a thing to establish Speakers' Corner."

Mr. Scott retorted: "In the 1952 B.C. election I risked imprisonment by campaigning on the sidewalks of Victoria for the right of freedom of speech. I've done a bit of pioneering myself."

City officials said merely that five acres near the deer pens had been set aside and this should be plenty of room for all comers.

ANNOUNCING
IN THE SYMPTOMATIC
TREATMENT OF THE COMMON COLD
UTILIZING THE PRINCIPLE OF Sustained Release Medication

THE EFFECTIVENESS OF SUSTAINED RELEASE MEDICATION DOES NOT DIMINISH, BUT REMAINS AT A THERAPEUTIC LEVEL FOR A PROLONGED PERIOD!
Modern pharmacology has made Sustained Release Medication possible by incorporating groups of medicated minigrans in one capsule. The different minigrans in each capsule are released in the system at measured intervals, to sustain maximum relief from 10 to 12 hours.
Through the unique principle of Sustained Release Medication, ORNAL lets this combination of ingredients work with maximum therapeutic effect over a prolonged period. Yet, ORNAL costs no more than conventional cold remedies — only $1.35!
ORNAL CAPSULE (Magnified)

Tiny ORNAL minigrans with different coating compounds are released in the system at measured intervals to give you Sustained Release Medication.
Now, the principle of Sustained Release Medication has been applied to an entirely new cold symptom remedy — ORNAL.
Each ORNAL capsule contains three relief-giving ingredients: An antihistamine to combat the allergy symptoms of the common cold, a decongestant to promote sinus drainage, and a specially developed drying agent to inhibit excess fluids caused by colds and sinusitis.
• ORNAL brings effective, 24-hour relief with just 2 capsules a day.
• One ORNAL capsule at bedtime helps you breathe freely all night long.
• One ORNAL capsule in the morning — and you can forget about cold medication for the rest of the day!
• ORNAL's Sustained Release Medication means you can leave your medicine at home where it belongs.

Ducking Their Dues

PURSUING the object of embarrassing the UN secretary-general the Soviet delegate accuses him of extravagant spending on UN activities. If Mr. Hammarskjold is guilty he must be using his own money.

Certainly he is not making undue use of Soviet contributions to the UN budget, for the U.S.S.R. is a notoriously tardy payer of its dues. Most member states are, in fact, and one of Mr. Hammarskjold's annual problems is to get them to cough up. In any other organization they would forfeit their standing for being behind in their payments.

Members are assessed each year on a rather peculiar ratio. Last year the United States was expected to put up some 32 per cent of the total annual budget, for instance, while the Soviet Union got off with a 13 per cent assessment. Such a disparity is a tribute to U.S. forbearance. The United Kingdom was charged 7 per cent, Canada 3 per cent, France 6 per cent, Nationalist China 5 per cent.

Assessment doesn't mean payment, however. Payments are due on January 1 each year but on May 31, 1959, arrears amounted to $46,000,000 out of a total of $49,000,000 due. U.S.S.R. was one of the chief culprits, as was Nationalist China which apparently is always at least a full year behind.

The secretary-general is therefore forced to be a financial juggler as well as a diplomat charged with keeping the peace among nations whose quarrelsome proclivities match their parsimony. It was no wonder that last year a financial crisis arose, compelling him to dip into a special working capital fund which, originally set at $22,500,000, was down to less than $1,000,000.

That is not all. Special levies are made from time to time, as for example for the maintenance of the UNEF, the force operating in the Middle East. This was endorsed by the General Assembly but 25 nations refused to pay any share of the costs and 12 others made only token payments.

Nor the least of Mr. Hammarskjold's worries, obviously, is how to keep the UN bills paid. It seems clear that many member states want to have the palm without the dust, to belong to the UN but to do things on the cheap, or at least not to pay their dues so long as they can avoid doing so.

The Soviet Union being a perpetual laggard—in November last year it was ten months behind with its annual dues and had never contributed a cent towards the UNEF—it is in no position to accuse Mr. Hammarskjold of extravagance. The truth is he must be stretching UN funds with remarkable financial acumen.

Dangerous Words

THE issue of whether or not to defend the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu at the risk of a major world conflict may be a legitimate one for debate between the two American presidential candidates, but it is hardly incumbent upon Canadian government office holders to express their personal opinions publicly on the matter at this time.

True, Liberal Senator Dessureault and Conservative MP Louis-Joseph Pigeon may feel very strongly on the subject and no doubt they have good reason for their views. However, their words of admiration for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's determination to hold Quemoy and Matsu "as bulwarks of democracy" and their urging of the free world to support the nationalist Chinese may be wrongly construed as an expression of official Canadian policy.

The fact that both men made such statements in Manilla on their return from the recent Interparliament Union Conference in Tokyo where they represented Canada lends strength to this interpretation.

It would be unfortunate if the remarks made by these two distinguished Canadians caused embarrassment to either of the American presidential candidates, or worse still that they should create further misunderstanding of Canada's position in Asiatic affairs.

It is the Canadian government's main purpose of the moment to bring about a lessening of world tension. Such declarations by her representatives will do little to help attain that objective.

Distraction from Study

A SURVEY made by education authorities in Toronto has produced an answer identical to that turned up by similar surveys in other parts of the continent. It is that scholarship and car ownership are incompatible in the case of high school students.

Findings of the study in Toronto are if anything a little more emphatic and spectacular than those published hitherto. A check of academic records disclosed the somewhat startling fact that not one student who drove to school regularly obtained first-class standing, and half of the students had failed one year's examinations.

Since the investigation was made by school principals and vice-principals, the results must be assumed to be authentic.

They confirm the conclusion reached by a great many educationists and laymen: that preoccupation with the pleasures and financial problems of car ownership distract attention from study.

As many a high school teacher has complained bitterly, most youths allowed to drive to school think a great deal more of their cars and the activities which come to be associated with them than they do of classroom work and homework.

The moral aspect of this problem also has given cause for anxiety in some instances.

It is one thing to recognize the existence of a problem and another to find the cure, however. When parents either give their boys cars or allow them to use their allowances for the purchase of ancient wrecks in constant need of having money spent on them, there is little that school principals can do.

There was a time when a school principal was master of his pupils during the daylight hours, and an order from him had to be obeyed. Nowadays the notion seems to prevail that an order not to bring cars to school would be an invasion of individual freedom, if not of the new Bill of Rights.

Interpreting the News

Cuba and Canada Cordial

By JACK BEST, Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHILE relations between the United States and Cuba have grown steadily sour since Fidel Castro grabbed power on the Caribbean island, those between Canada and Cuba have remained cordial.

Officials in Ottawa have misgivings about the leftist turn taken by the Cuban revolution. But they see this as part of a modern trend—a trend that generally seems to apply its own brake—and hence they are not unduly alarmed.

"We have no quarrel at all of a bilateral character with Cuba," said one official. "And we want to keep matters that way."

The same sentiments are evidently felt on the Cuban side. A spokesman for the Cuban embassy described relations between the two countries as "perfect."

There is a feeling here that the U.S. reaction to Castro's provocations has been both unwise and precipitate. The contention is that a velvet-glove approach would bring better results, that the Americans' clenched-fist policies are driving Cuba ever deeper into the Communist orbit.

Considered particularly unfortunate are the U.S. economic sanctions against Cuba—which Canada tried to persuade the U.S. not to impose. The picture of a big rich country tightening the screws on a poor small one in this fashion is not likely to gain the Americans many friends in Asia and Africa, it is held.

Further, there is considerable doubt whether the Americans can in fact succeed in bringing Castro to his knees through economic action—their presumed objective. Cuba is a wide-open country and can fill its needs from other sources.

In this connection, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said in Winnipeg Sunday night that Canada has "no intention whatsoever of imposing any embargo on Canadian goods in Cuban trade." A Washington report last week said the U.S. had made such a request.

Canadian trade with Cuba has not been curtailed and Canadian enterprises in that country have not been confiscated—as so many American concerns have been. The feeling is that the American firms might have been left alone too if Washington had taken a more flexible approach to the Cuban problem.

There is a disposition in Canada to view events in Cuba in the light of developments which have occurred in other countries following "agrarian" revolutions.

The prime examples cited are Egypt and Iraq. They were pro-Soviet and bitterly antagonistic towards the West at first, but then swung back to a more or less centre position. By its policies the U.S. is making it difficult for Cuba to ride this pendulum all the way.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

WHAT'S in a name, Shakespeare asked, but he was thinking about a rose which would smell as sweet if called an onion. He was not applying his dictum to personal nomenclature. In his own day perhaps this did not matter for spelling wasn't solidified, as it were, and individuals often penned their identities in contrary spellings. Now every man knows the written symbols of his own name and woe betide the person who misplaces them. Probably nothing offends an individual's vanity more than having his name wrongly spelled.

Names, then, are important things, the rose and the onion notwithstanding. In a different way political parties are equally jealous of their identities and the labels under which they function. Hence for instance the hunt for a party name for the forthcoming CCF-CLC merger. It is the connotation that counts. If the new grouping continues the CCF label this might imply that labor has been absorbed, whereas if it is called the "Labor Party" the implication would be that the CCF has been swallowed. Some writers have taken to calling the projected grouping the "New Party," which provides a handy term of reference for the present but which if adopted and lasting as long as the CCF label has lasted, would grow into a misnomer. After 30 years neither a person, an item nor a political party is exactly new.

Perhaps however "New Party" would be as good a title as any if both CCF and CLC as such have to be eschewed, because language and especially labels have come to mean different things to different people. Mr. Khrushchev talks about democracy and people's parties and free elections but he doesn't mean the same thing as we do by these terms. This is one of the perplexing aspects of the cold war. The protagaonists use similar terms and expressions to describe what are often quite contrary processes.

* * *

A group name differs from a personal name in that it is presumed to denote the group's aims or philosophies, John Doe's name is just a label to separate him from his neighbor; it stands for nothing but himself. A political party has an ethos, ostensibly at least, and the label is supposed to illumine this. In practice it doesn't, for time erodes original concepts. It must be quite true that some Conservatives are more liberal in thought than some Liberals, and some Liberals more conservative than some Conservatives. The dividing line grows thin and never more so than today.

Across the border there is currently a good illustration of the anomalism represented by party names. People are used to them so they are unlikely to be changed. But on the face of it a Democrat would seem to be opposed to republicanism when he votes against a Republican candidate, and a Republican would seem to oppose democracy when he votes against a Democrat. The labels are meaningless because both parties espouse republicanism and democracy. In this respect they are just identifying tags.

It is the tag that the new CCF-CLC party is after, only nowadays a tag has to be picked with care. Short of inventing new names altogether—as Madison Avenue does for each fresh detergent—there is not much choice left. Europe for instance has pretty well co-opted all the "Democratic," "Socialist" and "People's" party labels in varying and confusing shades, and a queer mixture they make. Maybe the CCF-CLC strategists will have to settle for "New Party" after all, albeit the problem thereafter will be to give the philosophy a new look. That might be harder even than picking a new name.

Election Poker Game

The Hazard to Foreign Policy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHAT is happening in the U.S. election campaign, and particularly in the television exchanges between the two candidates, may have been inevitable. But it nevertheless raises some foreboding for that time which now seems as though it would never come—when the campaign is ended and a new president has been installed in the White House.

The promises of the politician—the power seeker—are as old as mankind. And these promises are a currency debased in direct relation to the degree of rivalry between the candidates which the electorate has learned to discount with appropriate cynicism. But when the promising game is carried over into foreign policy at a moment of extreme danger and uncertainty for America and the world, then it becomes an incalculable hazard.

* * *

What the two candidates are doing as they manoeuvre for the final clinch is to give their promises a more and more impossible sound. Negotiation with the Soviet Union must come sooner or later and sooner rather than later as the threat of the spread of nuclear armaments adds to the present peril.

Negotiation cannot be a one-sided affair. The day is long since past, if indeed it ever was, when America can expect the trumpets to sound and the walls of the Kremlin to fall down. In short, there must be concessions for both sides if meaningful negotiation can take place at some point next year.

Yet the temptation, as the second TV encounter made plain, is to sound as though all that is necessary is to stand fast, build up strength and insure thereby the certain collapse or capitulation of the Soviet Union.

* * *

On the question of negotiation on disarmament Senator Kennedy suggested that it would first be necessary to restore the military strength that he repeatedly says the Eisenhower administration has allowed to decline.

That sounds like a large order. Will this mean one year, two years, three years? And do we take it for granted that not alone the Soviet but America's allies and the uncommitted nations sit down and wait while this process goes on?

There is an acute awareness, in Britain, for example, and in India, that time is running out and that events of the most menacing nature will not wait much beyond the long and troubled interlude of the American elections.

The two candidates have tended to sound in their TV encounters not so much like debaters as like poker players in a tough and uncompromising game. You raise me one down-with-Khrushchev and I'll throw in a get-tough-with-Castro.

* * *

Partly this is due to the limitations of the format, as prescribed by the candidates themselves, and particularly by Vice-President Nixon, and to the nature of the medium. The image of the man, as seen by sixty or seventy or however many million voters, is so largely dependent on techniques that neither candidate can be sure of controlling and that are chancy and tricky at best. Reading a number of the telegrams that came in to Nixon after the second encounter, it was surprising to find quite a few that were friendly and yet spoke of his dead-pan solemnity, the complete lack of humor and the light touch, the grim quality of the whole performance.

When 13 topics are thrown into one hour of discussion the poker-playing approach—I'll raise you another be-nasty-to-Khrushchev — may have been bound to happen. The format gives no opportunity for effective rebuttal. A great deal is still to be learned about this new form of political give and take.

Long before the incentive of a 70,000,000 TV audience politicians played the promising game and in foreign policy, too. Only 20 years ago, with the whole of Europe overwhelmed by Hitler's panzer divisions and with the Western Hamisphere clearly in the next target area, Franklin Roosevelt and Wendell Wilkie got into a promising match. In the heat of the battle Roosevelt in his Boston speech promised American mothers they would never see their sons put on ships to go into a foreign war.

That this contributed to the indecision and the near paralysis that followed no one can deny, even though Wilkie was to play a gallant role and embarrassedly ascribe the impossible promises to "campaign oratory." America's role at a moment of incredible peril for the West was a furtive one. Continuation of the draft was saved by a single vote in the House.

In his San Diego speech Nixon launched what promises to be an all-out attack through the conclusion of the campaign on the defence of the tiny islands of Quemoy and Matsu that lie virtually within rifle shot of the mainland of China. He wants to capitalize on what may prove to have been a serious tactical error by Kennedy—the statement in the second encounter that since the islands were indefensible they should not be defended.

But anyone who has looked even briefly at the line-up in the United Nations on the last vote on the admission of Red China surely knows that the whole issue is moving toward a crisis which cannot be met simply by insisting that Chiang Kai-shek is China and repeating the old war cries. Nevertheless, by freezing in one inflexible position that many of our best friends feel is impossible we shall by that much jeopardize the hope of reasonable negotiation in the future.

Albania's Isolation

Between Peiping and Moscow

BY OTTO VON HABSBURG

THE Russian-Chinese tension has reached two high points so far this year. The first was the Communist conference in Rumania. The second is the press and radio campaign that started on August 13 and has since grown in violence.

While the European Communist parties have fallen into line with Moscow, Albania alone is still uncommitted. General Enver Hoxha, the party's boss, was absent from Bucharest. He has not heeded Premier Khrushchev's call to come to the UN Assembly. In his place went Prime Minister Mehemet Shehu.

The Communist state on the shores of the Adriatic has often gone its own ways. Since the break between Tito and Stalin it is cut off from the other so-called People's Democracies.

A backward country with wild mountain ranges and a warlike population, it has been able to maintain an isolation which favors extremist views. While in most other states of Eastern Europe the Communist bosses came to power riding comfortably on the coattails of the victorious Soviet Army, the present leaders of Albania are genuine revolutionary fighters who owe their victory, partly at least, to their own endeavor. Hence they have sometimes shown independent attitudes.

* * *

The realignment of the totalitarian world between the two opposite poles of Peiping and Moscow has had its impact on Albania. Within the framework of its Communist party exists a Soviet-Albanian Friendship Society, directed by Prime Minister Mehemet Shehu, with Razi Alija as vice-president. On the other hand there is also a Chinese-Albanian Friendship Society headed by party boss Enver Hoxha, assisted by Mrs. Liri Belishova. Since the beginning of the year, but especially since Aug. 13, the battle has raged between these two camps.

Recently in a session of the central committee of the Albanian Communist party, held in the absence of Hoxha, two top leaders, Mrs. Belishova, secretary of the central committee, and Koco Tashko, president of the central control committee, were ousted from their respective positions. Mrs. Belishova's crucial function went to Ramiz Alija.

This is a far-reaching victory for the Soviet side. Its importance is enhanced by Mrs. Belishova's standing as heroine of the party. As a young girl she lost an eye in the war. In 1945, she married Nako Spiru, head of the Young Communists, who became economics minister and was forced to commit suicide in 1947 by the bloodthirsty Koci Dsodse, then secretary-general of the party. Mrs. Belishova was expelled, but soon rehabilitated by the Stalinist element when they "discovered" that Dsodse was a Titoist agent. Since then she has always held important jobs. Her demotion will thus deeply impress the rank and file membership.

Of course, Hoxha remains head of the party. But he is now deprived of his most reliable followers. The battle against his person has begun.

We will now have the opportunity by watching the fate of one of the most important figures of Eastern Europe, to measure the intensity of the struggle between the two Communist giants.

From the Scriptures

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

THE bus driver, an old acquaintance by whom I am driven downtown several times a week, turned his head and gave me a wink and a nod. I came forward from my seat.

"Sit up here," said the bus driver, "and get an earful of this."

He was braking the bus for a stop. And as he levered the door open, a woman stepped aboard, talking.

"Hello, there!" she cried eagerly.

And for the whole trip downtown, 30 blocks, she never stopped talking. She stood holding to the rail by the bus driver and glancing meaningfully over her shoulder at the occupant of the front seat until he finally got the message and got up and let the lady sit down.

And there she sat, crouched forward, pouring into the driver's ear an unbroken stream of chatter; and when we reached the downtown main intersection and she got off, she was still talking and eagerly finishing what she had to say from the pavement.

"That's awful," I admitted, as we drove on.

"I'm a captive audience," said the bus driver.

Letters to the Editor

BCGEA and CCF

In your editorial of Oct. 14 headed "Freedom of Association" you made allegations which are completely false.

I challenge you to produce one civil servant who has, through the civil servants' association, made any financial contribution to the CCF. I further challenge you to produce one civil servant who has even been asked, through the civil servants' association, to make such a contribution.

At the last B.C. Federation of Labor convention the delegates from the civil servants' association, true to their non-political constitution, abstained from voting on any resolution that might be remotely connected with politics.

The action of the government to which I objected and which you so blindly support would make it mandatory for the members of the civil servants' association to stop sitting or associating with people who are free to pursue their own political destiny. This is the big stick wielded in a vindictive manner. I still object.

R. M. STRACHAN,
Leader of the Opposition.

Legislative Buildings.

Editor's note: Nowhere in the editorial was there any suggestion that civil servants had made or been asked for contributions to the CCF. The cardinal submission was contained in the following paragraph:

". . . if he (a civil servant) is to remain a member of the association he must put himself in the position of giving moral if not financial support to a political party to which he may be wholly opposed."

A Fetching Slogan

When the birds left Alberta for the winter, I used to wonder where they went, and found a great many of them here, especially crows. I think "Follow the birds to Victoria" or Vancouver Island, is a mighty fetching slogan. Treasure Island or Discovery Island are unimaginative, like out of a kid's adventure book.

Evils of Inhibition

Your publicizing the views of a Grade 12 student speaking to the Institute of Alcoholism at the Royal Jubilee Hospital is inspiring.

It is surely the enigma of the old that they can so rarely convince the younger generation, but it is the frustration of youth that they fail equally to influence their elders.

When one sees the beauty spots of B.C. littered with broken beer bottles one wonders if we should not trust those under 21 to drink sensibly in the open instead of compelling them to experiment secretly, thereby developing those inhibitions that are so frequently the basis of alcoholism in the adult.

We hear so little commendation for the fine work the traffic police are doing in this city in their endeavors to enforce the traffic laws, so I would ask you to insert this letter by one who appreciates their fine work and endorses to the full the stiff penalties imposed on offenders.

Pit of Gloom

Timely advice of the police commissioner to the storekeepers, etc., of Victoria about guarding their premises against probable delinquency, from both old and young, also needs additional help, evidently from others in authority in Victoria.

Having occasion to visit Victoria recently with time to spare, we walked around the (theatre) area and were amazed at the pit of gloom we had penetrated. Partly blinded by neon signs only—and very little street lighting for safety—we compared it to the ancient caverns of darkness we had seen in the movies and wondered if prevention would not be better then cure for crime by applying the modernism of "let there be more light" also on the side streets of Victoria.

Three Rows of Tape

The sailor's blue jean collar has worn on the edge three stripes of white tape, and many explanations have been quoted since 1860.

"The Mariner's Mirror" of October 1948, page 308, quotes the wording of the Admiralty Circular of Jan. 30, 1857:

The commander-in-chief Devonport, forwarded a joint report by the commanding officers at that port in which the description of the suggested duck frock was: "Collar and wristbands of blue jean, having a border of three rows of 3-16 of an inch white tape, ⅛ inch apart, with white metal button at the wrist."

The Devonport proposal was adopted almost verbatim.

The writer, E. W. Bovil, says, "It will be noticed that HMS Victory was amongst the ships that favored two rows, despite the well-known association with Nelson; I do not find in 1860 any indication that the choice of three rather than two rows was motivated by any desire to commemorate the number of Nelson's naval victories in this way."

It will be found that the black silk handkerchief was commonly worn by sailors before Trafalgar, hence it was already in use in 1857.

Jobless Benefit Plus $117 Training Plan Maximum

A head of a family chosen for the provincial government's emergency vocational training program can receive a maximum of $117 a month on top of his unemployment allowance, the department of education announced yesterday.

If the family lives at home the top payment is $91 a month. A single man living at home is eligible for $52 a month and away from home, $91 a month.

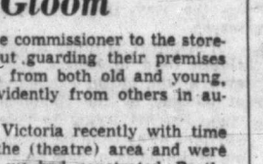

The vocational training program, which provides education and trade training at Nanaimo, is intended to help ease the province's unemployment picture.

New Try at UN

World-Wide Attack Green's Arms Plan

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Canada's proposals on disarmament envisage a broad attack on the problem by three global committees, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said Tuesday.

He sketched in an interview his ideas for a new try at disarmament while the UN assembly's political committee held a day-long procedural debate which placed disarmament at the top of its list of hot East-West issues.

Green will deliver a formal speech on disarmament today.

He said Tuesday that Canada will advocate the appointment of two additional committees to work with the committee of 10—the East-West body whose work collapsed in Geneva in June because of a Communist walkout.

Green also said that Canada favors the appointment of a neutral chairman — possibly from Switzerland — for the committee.

He proposed a technical committee of unstated size—that could include experts from countries represented on the committee of 10, as well as from other countries, including neutralists.

His other committee would be a "watchdog" body appointed by the 99-member UN disarmament commission. This group would not include countries on the negotiating body but would advise and review the work of the negotiators.

The committee decided unanimously to take up President Eisenhower's African aid program at the end of the disarmament debate, followed by the Moslem rebellion against France in Algeria.

IS TV Giving Your Rug a Beating?

The new season's TV shows are with us again, our living room rugs are getting a lot more use than in the days before TV. This extra use can soon take years from the normal life of your rug. Perhaps you should turn your rug so that the same areas do not receive the wear year after year. But most important is to remove the sharp gritty particles from deep within the pile that grind away at the rug fibres. This can only be done by professional "deep cleaning" from the CARPETORIUM. The experts at the CARPETORIUM use only the finest of materials and equipment that guarantees new beauty and longer life for your rug when you phone EV 3-2861 for a FREE estimate. The cost is low, service is prompt. The CARPETORIUM, 1210 Wharf Street, EV 3-2861, your professional rug and carpet cleaner.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

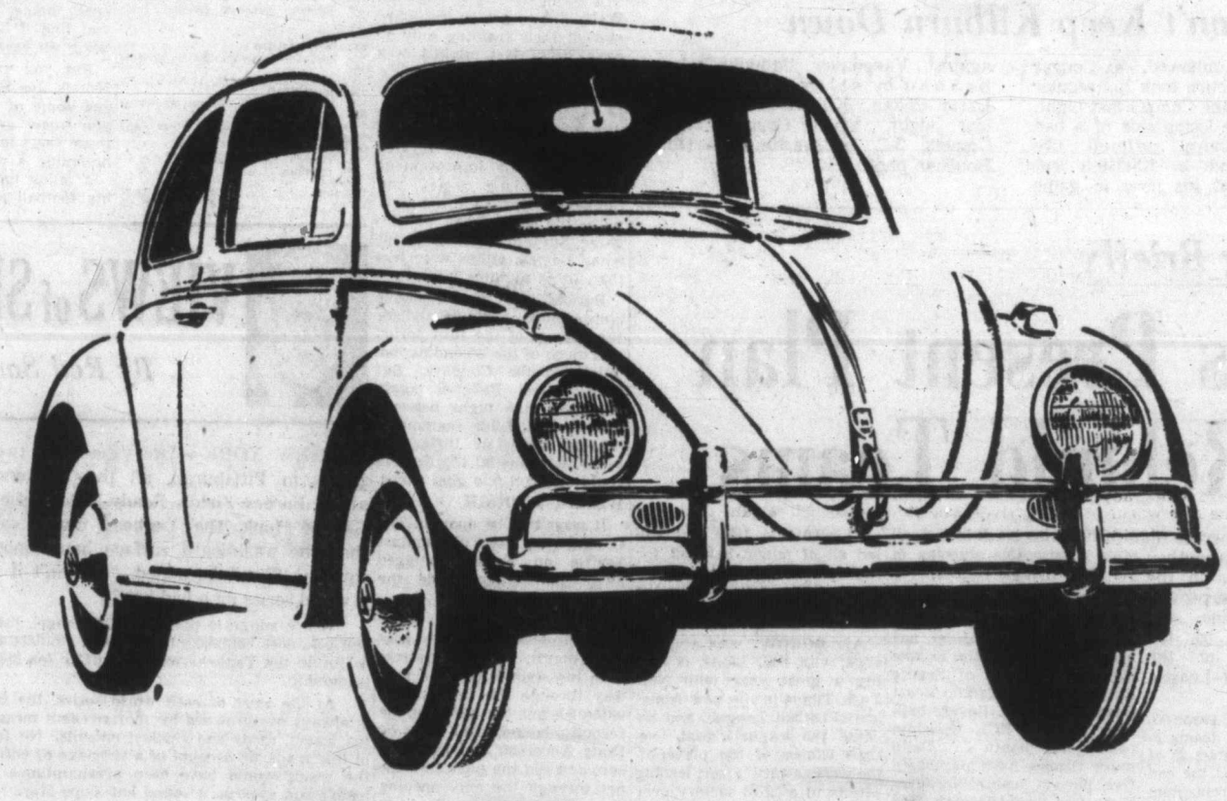

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Changed!

Volkswagen's engineers make three major improvements to the world's most successful small car.

You can't tell the new VW just by looking. You have to drive it. All the changes have been made within the car, for example:

More powerful engine: Engine power's up 10%. Now the Volkswagen leaps away from lights. You scoot up hills, scuttle round bends and fly down highways faster than before. And overtaking is safer because there's more reserve power in every gear. The engine itself, although increased to 40 horse power, still retains its famous economy. A pleasant thought.

Synchronized first gear: Now you can shift down to first gear without stopping the car. At low speeds you change straight down with a flick of the wrist and zoom away. This eliminates a lot of stop-and-start driving. Four synchronized speeds is a luxury even in the more expensive cars. But to have it in a car of Volkswagen's size and price is quite amazing. The ratios of all four gears have been changed too so you can use every ounce of extra power developed by the new engine. The new VW is as nimble as a needle in traffic and more fun than a fair.

Increased luggage space: Volkswagen's luggage space is now an ample 10 cubic feet; 5 behind the back seat and 5 up front (the engine is in the rear of course). Now the VW goes to market and runs all the way home with your groceries under the hood. Or takes a long vacation with all kinds of luggage neatly stowed away.

The VW is constantly being improved: Since 1948, no less than nine hundred improvements have been made to the Volkswagen. Yet it still remains basically the same car with the same styling. That's why a VW may grow old but never obsolete—and why it retains its value.

The VW is an honest product. It is Volkswagen's philosophy not to change for the sake of change but to search continually for new ways to improve a great idea. Here are some more improvements in the new VW:

Automatic choke: The old manual choke is gone for good. Now the idling speed of the engine is automatically regulated to suit driving conditions. the VW won't stall when you stop . . . even on very damp days.

Better steering: The steering is lighter and safer. A hydraulic damper soaks up road shocks before they reach the steering wheel. You keep a steady hand when the Volkswagen hits a bump.

No more carburetor icing: Once upon a time, on cold, damp days, the VW would sometimes ice up. But no more. Now a stream of warm air from the engine is played directly into the carburetor. It can't catch cold.

Interesting new colours: The new Volkswagen is a much prettier car. There are six brand new colours to choose from, not counting black. Inside, the newly-styled interiors harmonize superbly. There's coloured floor covering and there is even a coloured steering wheel.

Windshield washer is standard: In the new Volkswagen, the windshield washer is standard equipment. So is a larger door pocket, front-passenger hand grip, twin padded sun visors and a dozen other features.

Some of these improvements in the De Luxe Volkswagen are also in the Custom model. Whichever you buy, we think you get the best car value in the world.

The new Volkswagen is a lot more fun to drive. Why not find out for yourself today at your nearest VW dealer.

Tenacious Cougars Up There After Overtime 3-2 Victory

By JIM TANG

Doggedness is one of the fine virtues in sport, and because they have had an abundance of it in their first three games, Victoria Cougars are sharing the Western Hockey League lead with the three clubs most figure will scrap it out for the championship.

It paid off for the second time this season last night at Memorial Arena when the Cougars hung tough through the stickiest going to stay close enough to win it on persistence—in overtime by 3-2 over Spokane Comets.

It was the third time in three games that the Cougars hav been involved in 3-2 decisions. And they got this one the same way they got their first one, by coming from behind and showing their best lick in the latter part of the game.

	P	W	L	T	F	A	Pts
Vancouver	2	2	0	0	7	4	4
VICTORIA	3	2	1	0	8	7	4
Edmonton	3	2	1	0	14	11	4
Winnipeg	4	2	2	0	14	16	4
Calgary	2	1	1	0	8	5	2
Seattle	2	1	1	0	5	5	2
Portland	1	0	1	0	2	6	0
Spokane	3	0	3	0	6	10	0

Last night's score: Spokane 2 at VICTORIA 3 (overtime).
Next games: Tonight—Edmonton at Calgary; Potland at Winnipeg.

THE TICKET?

It could prove that short, concentrated training periods are the ticket for a fast start. The Cougars were the last WHL club to get on ice. They started their training only 19 days back, last night's was their eighth game—five exhibition and three league—in 12 days.

Showing flashes of improved passing on an ice surface which was an improvement over opening night, the Cougars got off to a fast start with the first goal of the game. But things changed a bit when Comets pulled even less than three minutes later.

Bucked up, the Spokane club came on strongly and for the balance of the first period and much of the second period, outskated the Cougars. But with Marcel Pelletier again having a fine night between the pipes and his teammates erasing many of their mistakes with hustle, the Comets could only get one goal ahead.

WASN'T ENOUGH

It wasn't to be enough. The Cougars, as they did against Seattle on Friday, plugged away until they made the breaks they needed.

Rookie Bert Fizzell, whose first professional goal beat the Totems, squared matters with his second. It came midway through the third period when he got his stick on the second rebound, after shots by Doug Anderson and Don Wilson, and slid the puck into the net through the only opening through players milling in front of rookie-goalkeeper Carl Wetzel.

Doug Macauley broke it up at 2.22 of overtime, his iced shot from about 25 feet deflecting up and past Wetzel off the stick of Spokane-defenceman Bill Folk.

SECOND GOAL

It was the second goal of the game for Macauley, who sat it out Sunday at Seattle for what may be the only time this season. He opened the scoring with a smart goal on a play alertly started by Jim Hay at his own blue line.

Among the crowd of more than 2,100 fans were Victoria-owner Jim Piggott, league-president Al Leader and Ken Reardon, head of Montreal Canadiens' far-flung farm system.

Reardon was ostensibly watching the Comets, a Montreal affiliate, but he was also keeping his eyes on Fizzell, whose size and record in junior hockey indicates an interesting future. And Reardon took a peek or two at Wilson, the other Cougar rookie, too.

Piggott wasn't immediately available for post-game comment but in an afternoon get-together he said that "if this team needs any help I'll get it."

Some is expected before the end of the week, perhaps in time for the Cougars' next game, here Saturday night against Winnipeg Warriors. Toronto Maple Leafs owe the Victoria club a player on sponsorship arrangements, have until the end of the week to produce one acceptable to coach George Agar.

Spokane—Goal: Wetzel; defence: McNabb, Folk, Hodges, Holdaway; forwards: Kennedy, Kilburn, Bell, Topell, Lamoureux, Wiltuk, Mekilok, Stankiewiczt Johnson.
Victoria — Goal: Pelletier; defence: Currie, McLeod, Hay, North; forwards: Anderson, Fizzell, Wilson, Goyer, Ford, Ginnell, Macauley, Johansen, Swarbrick.

And Disappointed

Big Four Brand Leaves Stuke Cold

(Annis Stukus, football crusader in western Canada the past seven years, has returned to his native Toronto and resumed his newspaper career. His articles will appear from time to time in The Daily Colonist.)

By ANNIS STUKUS

TORONTO (TNS) — Better than seven years of cheering for the West—I got to be a real "homer" at times—and you find it hard to adjust to being an easterner again.

But you run into Teddy Morris, Joe Wright, Art West and some of the other chaps you know around town and those years in Vancouver start becoming a dream.

A fellow has to catch up on his football at all times and more so now that he's trying to figure how the East can get the Grey Cup back.

It was only natural to expect some do-or-die struggles last weekend with Montreal and Hamilton dueling for third place Saturday and Argos and Ottawa jousting for top spot Sunday.

This should have been the time to see what the Big Four was really like and sort of check out the stories you've been hearing second hand about the clubs back here.

I don't want to start out by being an impertinent western type of observer my first crack at the typewriter, but friends, I'm just a little disappointed in what I saw in Montreal Saturday and at the CNE Stadium Sunday.

PLAYED BETTER

All the reports you heard were that none of the clubs came up to anything approaching their better efforts over the weekend. All have obviously played better — or the crowds wouldn't be standing up the way they are this season.

In Montreal Saturday it was almost hard to believe your eyes at the pitiful exhibition of tackling by the Hamilton club. I'm not trying to take anything away from the standout performance of Sam Etcheverry and his mates at times against the former jungle kings.

ALWAYS KNEW

Even when Hamilton were having their lean years, one thing you always knew about them was that you were going to get knocked down by some vicious tackling. Saturday, Hamilton weren't even pushing well. None of them would ever make it on a King Street car in rush hour.

And yet, Hamilton were in the game for much longer than they deserved to be.

Etcheverry proved en route, however, that he is still the best quarterback in football. He's over those pass-happy years he had and has gone back to being a quarterback who hits the defenders with the type of attack they are least prepared for.

Argos on Sunday were everything I'd heard about them. Tobin Rote has a masters degree in the art of passing a football, throws well and ably from any part of the field and won't have too many heaves intercepted. That is, as long as he stays away from proving a point.

That had to be his only reason for testing Gary Schreider twice Sunday. He tried a short pass to Boyd Carter, hit the surprised Ottawa defender right in the hands with the ball so cleanly Schreider must have figured it was loaded the way he dropped it.

HUNG ON

Rote came right back—but this time Gary was ready, hung on and went for six points.

The rare times Ottawa put a rush on Rote, I liked the way he handled the situation. But I'll have to reserve complete judgment on him when I see a more persistent rush.

Mind you, I saw some of the best blocking for a passer I've seen for a long time by the Argo linemen. But I also noted some of the weakest efforts I've encountered by the Ottawa crew.

You can't give Mr. Rote and Dave Mann the time they were getting and not get killed by them. I don't care how many men you have back on pass defence.

I hoped to see more running by Argos to add a little variety to their attack in case it comes up rain or gumbo some day. But the way the passing was working, there wasn't much point in wasting time running except as a means of keeping Ottawa defenders honest.

Can't Keep Kilburn Down

Battered but unbowed, ex-Cougar coach Colin Kilburn took his regular turn with Spokane Comets last night, looking like the losing side of a bad argument. Kilburn suffered two black eyes and a 12-stitch cut across bridge of his nose in game against Vancouver Canucks when bashed by stick of defenceman Larry Cahan. Kilburn also lost out last night, when Cougars beat Comets, 3-2, in overtime. — (Bill Boucher photo.)

Lions Present Plan To Rebuild Teams

B.C. Lions have come up with a plan to strengthen the weaker teams in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, and will present it to the annual meeting of the Canadian Football League in February.

Under the Lions' proposal, each of the top four teams in the WIFU would protect 25 of their 35-man roster at the end of the season. The remaining 10 would be placed at the disposal of the last-place team, which could pick up two from each club and have eight proven players for the following season.

These players could be kept, sold or used as trade material in an effort to strengthen.

A club spokesman said the plan was well received by WIFU delegates at a meeting in Calgary on Sunday.

New Yorkers Cool To New Ball Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Blase New Yorkers shrugged off the National Baseball League's return to the city.

But Congressman Francis E. Dorn, a Republican, protested that the franchise should be moved to Brooklyn, "where it belongs."

The new team will be quartered in Flushing, where a stadium is to be erected on the site of the World's Fair grounds.

Actor William Bendix wondered how a name would be chosen for the team.

"'Flushing is not a good name for a baseball team," he scowled.

Brooklyn's National League franchise was shifted to Los Angeles two years ago.

We Can't Even See 'Nothing'

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Western Interprovincial Football Union game Saturday between Calgary Stampeders and British Columbia Lions will be carried on television, the CBC has announced.

In Vancouver, Lions general manager Herb Capozzi said the B.C. club has given its permission for the televising of the game from Vancouver, with the Vancouver and Victoria areas blacked out as is usual in such a broadcast.

Third place in the league standings and the last playoff spot could hinge on the outcome of the game in Vancouver. Edmonton already has clinched a playoff spot while Saskatchewan Roughriders are out of the running.

The CBC originally scheduled a television broadcast of the Edmonton at Regina game, but since this would be a "nothing" game with no effect on league standings, a move was started last Friday to televise the important Calgary-Vancouver fixture.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

NEW YORK—After the first two world series games in Pittsburgh, all the Yankees were talking about Forbes Field's Ready-Mixed infield. Maj. Ralph George Houk, the Yankees' coach, said he realized that the washboard surface handicapped both teams equally. "But," he added, "wouldn't it be hell to lose a world series on a bad hop?"

Which suggests that if C. D. Stengel, the septuagenarian warlock, does bequeath his philters, amulets and divining rods to Houk, the Yankees will not suffer for lack of clairvoyant leadership.

At the start of each world series, the field of prophecy is always overcrowded by sportswriters messing around with tea leaves, cards and chicken entrails. No forecast appeared in this space, on account of a shortage of entrails. Foretelling the result would have been presumptuous for a guy who hadn't laid eyes on a round bat since May.

However, when the wire services came around polling the press, they were given a cool reply: "Pittsburgh in seven games." This might be described as an uninformed guess, predicated on the suspicion that Vernon Law, Bob Friend and Roy Face might do to the Yankees as Lew Burdette and Warren Spahn had done in 1957. The struggle did go seven games, but it was that pebble on the infield, not the Pirate on the mound, that decided the championship. So, no credit is claimed.

Lodge Conditions Get Worse

Much more significant than the grotesque scores, as far as baseball's future is concerned, was the news about major league expansion which broke during the world series. If the applications by Houston and New York for franchises in the National League didn't inspire some soul-searching in the American League, then conditions in Joe Cronin's lodge are even worse than they seem.

Since the brothers started manipulating big league franchises like the pea in a shell game, the National League has staked out rich claims in Milwaukee, Los Angeles and San Francisco. The American League has sunk its pick into the flintier soil of Baltimore and Kansas City.

Now the Nationals are reaching out for prime territory again, while the Americans sit on a rock and whimper. Houston and New York are plums. Not that Toronto, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Dallas-Fort Worth are lemons, but for companionship on a desert island would you choose Sophia Loren or Sophie Tucker?

From here it looks as though the only way the Americans could take a trick from the Nationals would be to move into Los Angeles. There, however, they'd either be at the mercy of the politicians who apply the gouge for that horror chamber where the Dodgers play, or tenants of Walter O'Malley in Chavez Ravine if and when that noted philanthropist gets his pie out of the sky.

League of Frightened Men

Chances are it is a fair comparison to say that the men who make decisions for the National League have 20/20 vision and can identify the buttered side of a slice of bread at 50 paces, whereas nobody makes decisions for the Americans.

Only three of the eight American League clubs are operated by men who know what happened to Thursday—George Weiss, of the Yankees; Frank Lane, of the Indians, and Bill Veeck, of the White Sox. Of these only Veeck is an important stockholder, and in his club the balance-of-power is held by Hank Greenberg.

Boston's Tom Yawkey may know what goes on, but as the years pass he seems to care less and less. Kansas City is represented by a "For Sale" sign. In the Detroit directorship, the natives are growing restless. There are a couple of live guys in Baltimore, but the difficulty there is multiple ownership, a cumbersome evil when important decisions are imperative.

For several years now, Cal Griffith has been pouting in Washington, fretful and restless. If he should seize the moment of expansion as an opportunity to move out, it would cause no rioting on Pennsylvania Avenue, provided the city retained membership in the league.

The majors are morally bound to put big league franchises in four Continental League cities. They would not necessarily be defaulting if they assigned, say, the Minneapolis territory to Griffith and opened Washington to other interests.

One can only speculate about how the American League may deal with these matters, but on one point there is no doubt. Whatever the Americans do, the Nationals will be ahead of them.

Paul Picked Top Manager

NEW YORK — Paul Richards, who kept the youthful Baltimore Orioles in the thick of the American League pennant race until the final two weeks, has been named the league's manager of the year.

Richards received 14 of a possible 24 votes from baseball writers in each of the eight American League cities. Cookie Lavagetto, who led Washington Senators to a fifth-place finish, was second with seven votes and Casey Stengel of New York Yankees got the other three.

Casey Goes Out Roaring

Bitter Stengel 'Retired' by Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy-year-old Charles Dillon (Casey) Stengel, the most successful manager in baseball history, bowed out Tuesday as boss of the New York Yankees in an aura of bitterness after having been advised by his employers he no longer fitted into their plans.

The master strategist, who had led the Yankees to 10 pennants and seven world championships in 12 years, said he was told the Yankees were overhauling their front office, including management, and that his advanced age would be a deterrent to their plans.

Yankee co-owner Dan Topping, present at the mammoth press conference, complete with television and newsreel cameras, said that Stengel was released because of the club's profit-sharing and retirement program. He said Casey, besides his salary, a reported $90,000 a year, would receive a bonus of $160,000 on Oct. 31, 1960, when his two-year contract comes to an end.

There was no immediate naming of Stengel's successor, although it is believed that Ralph Houk, currently the first base coach, will get the job.

Another press conference has been called for Thursday, at which time it is expected that besides the naming of a new manager, the Yankees will announce the retirement of George Weiss as general manager. Weiss is 65 and has been with the organization 28 years.

The grey-haired, gravel-voiced Stengel went out roaring. He began calmly enough, thanking his players, the writers, the fans and even the rival managers who "tried so hard to beat me."

But before much time had elapsed, the old man, his seamed eagle face stern and hard, his voice loud and caustic, was bitterly castigating the Yankee owners for his dismissal, which he considered unfair and unjustified.

CHIEF TARGET

It was obvious that the chief target of his criticism was Topping, the club president, who earlier had attempted to soothe Casey's feeling by calling him "a great manager" and suggesting that the rules should be changed "so that Stengel may be put in the hall of fame at once."

At one point, Stengel remarked acidly, "Mr. Webb (co-owner Del Webb) is letting Mr. Topping run the club."

At another point, he said pointedly, "when Weiss was running the club, he was the boss, and if I told him I wanted somebody he went right out and got him."

Once warmed up, Casey didn't let up.

"Yes, sir," he barked, "Mr. Topping and Mr. Webb paid me off in full and told me my services were no longer desired because they want to put in a youth program as an advance way of keeping the club going. That was their excuse —the best excuse they've got.

"When I heard their demands, about this new program that they said they were trying to build, I told them, if that's your program, gentlemen, don't worry about Mr. Stengel. He can take care of himself."

Stengel softened the implications somewhat by saying that his 12 years with the Yankee organization have been wonderful ones with a few exceptions.

Would Stengel consider managing elsewhere?

"I haven't given it much thought," he said.

Topping, present at the conference, listened intently during Stengel's 60-minute discourse, not once attempting to interrupt.

Asked to state his side, the 48-year-old Yankee president said: "I'll have more to say about it on Thursday."

CASEY STENGEL
. . . 'don't worry'

DAN TOPPING
. . . chief target

He Invented 'Stengelese'

NEW YORK (AP) — Casey Stengel is a gnarled, wordy man who has been conducting a running feud with silence for 70 years. He still is way ahead on points.

"Stengelese" is the name the writers have coined for his unique double talk that often is self-contradictory, usually is bewildering and always is colorful.

An interview with the old boy with the stooped shoulders and the deeply lined face can take you from Kansas City in 1960 to Kankakee in 1910 and usually does.

FOR LAUGHS

When the "old perfesser" came to the Yankees in 1949, they said he was being brought in for "laughs" while the dreary business of rebuilding a fading ball club was accomplished. They got their laughs and a pennant, too. In fact they got five world championships in a row from 1949 through 1953, a feat never before accomplished.

CLOWN REPUTATION

Before Casey came to the Yankees, he was trailed by a reputation as a clown. If you asked somebody about Stengel, then, he'd probably say, "oh, yes, he's the fellow who was paid for not managing Brooklyn" or "he's the guy who hid a bird under his cap at Ebbets Field."

They would have been right, too. For Casey was paid not to manage the Dodgers in 1937. He did doff his cap to let a stunned sparrow fly out. He did a lot of things that as a manager in later years he could not approve.

RUBS IT IN

How about the time he hit the home run to win a World Series game 1-0 for the Giants against the Yankees in 1923 and thumbed his nose at the pitcher as he rounded third? and the time he flattened the other team's third baseman in Columbus and had to be escorted from the park?

This complex and amazing man, who managed more world series teams than any other and won as many as any other man, also is the president of a bank in Glendale, Calif. He has more than enough money stashed away in oil wells and banks to take care of him and his wife, Etna, for the rest of their lives.

When he wants to be vague, Stengel can garble the English language with the best. He seldom identified a subject with the result that it takes an alert listener to understand when "this fella" becomes "that fella" and when he stops talking about the Milwaukee shortstop and drops back to a knuckleball pitcher in Japan.

Whitney Martin, Associated Press sports columnist, once got him down on paper like this:

"That feller runs splendid but he needs help at the plate which coming from the country chasing rabbits all winter give him strong legs although he broke one falling out of a tree which shows you can't tell and when a curve ball comes he waves at it and if pitchers don't throw curves you have not pitching staff so how is a manager to know whether to tell boys to fall out of trees and break legs so he can run fast even if he can't hit a curve ball?"

The "Old Perfesser" who started out to be a left-handed dentist will be missed next year and the years after at Yankee Stadium. No longer will he pose, chin in hand, on the dugout steps and hop over the baseline on his way to the mound on his bandy legs to tell some pitcher "give me the ball."

Yankee Stadium never will be the same without the swami of mumbo-jumbo.

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner P. K. Wrigley of Chicago Cubs said Tuesday he would not rule out Casey Stengel as a possible Cub manager, but "frankly I think his age is against him."

SAN FRANCISCO — Casey Stengel's name has popped up among those who may take over the reins of San Francisco Giants of the National League.

Bill Rigney was fired part way through last season and Tom Sheehan took over for the rest of the season.

Victoria Mid-Point Of Cod Migration?

By ALEC MERRIMAN

If you happen to catch a grey cod or a ling cod with a yellow tube sticking out of it, you have caught a "jackpot" fish.

The fisheries research board of Canada biological station at Nanaimo will pay 75 cents for the return of the tag if it is turned into the station along with the fish, or 50 cents if the tag alone is returned along with information as to size of fish and where it was caught.

Research scientists and technicians have tagged several thousand cod in Island waters in order to study migration routes, mortality rates, rate of exploitation, and basic limits of populations and to further understand Vancouver Island's cod fishery and protect it against depletion.

We went along as observer yesterday on the fisheries research vessel Investigator I, which is currently tagging fish in Juan de Fuca waters on the cod fishing grounds three and a half miles out from Victoria waterfront at the 50-fathom level.

Using an otter trawl, which rakes the bottom, we caught grey cod, ling cod, big skates, rex sole, lemon sole, turbot, brill, rat fish, hake, dog fish, tommy cod, innumerable basket starfish, sea urchins, hundreds of sea cucumbers, halibut, black cod and one or two big herring.

Technicians Clifton Forrester and Nelson Yates tossed all the cod into a big live tank and proceeded as quickly as possible to measure them and tag them with barb-pointed tags in their backs and return them to the water. All the other fish were swept back to the water by Bill Winstanley and mate Ron Dean.

Other members of the crew were skipper Clare Watson who personally supervised every drag and the most important man on any vessel, cook Carol Bateman.

Aim of the fisheries research branch is to tag 5,000 cod in these waters to study migration and find out if there is a direct relationship between the stock of cod on the west coast and the populations of grey cod in the Strait of Georgia and Gulf Island waters.

"We think the cod go back and forth and that Victoria is in the centre of their migration route," Forrester said. "If the fish do go back and forth there is no point in controlling fishing for them in one place and not in the other.

We were amazed at the variety of fish caught by the otter trawl net, and also pleasantly surprised to see that it caught no salmon or grilse. This we are told was because the salmon species moves too quickly to be caught by the slow otter trawl.

SLOW DRAG

The big net with its 4½-inch mesh, sweeping 45-feet across and 12-feet high was dragged along the bottom at 50 fathoms at a speed of 2½ to 3 knots.

Two Otter doors weighing 600 pounds each act like planers on each side of the net to hold it open and pull it down to the required depth.

This year fisheries personnel have tagged cod in Hecate Strait in January and February, off Victoria in April and now. They tagged brill and rock sole in the Cape Scott area in June and July.

Ground fish research is under direction of Dr. Keith Ketchen and as well as cod includes studies of rocks sole, lemon sole, brill, dog fish and various rock fishes.

Twenty Soccer Stars In Scandal Report

LONDON (AP) — A list of 20 soccer players was drawn up Tuesday to be handed over to Scotland Yard in a report to police on alleged bribing and fixing of English League matches.

Leaders of the Football Association (FA) and the English Football League conferred on reported confessions by some star players that they accepted bribes up to £500 ($1,400) to throw games.

The next move in the scandal that has rocked British soccer will be up to the government's director of public prosecutions.

Soccer officials decided to turn their evidence over to the law, the first time the FA has gone to the police in its 97-year history.

This was interpreted as a bid to restore public confidence before permanent harm is done to Britain's national game. The scandal is threatening soccer in the same way that the Chicago Black Sox bribery disclosures threatened the future of American baseball after the 1919 world series.

America's national sport was cleaned up by the strong arm of federal judge Kenesaw M. Landis, who became baseball commissioner.

Names of the 20 players in the dossier have not been disclosed, but some stars already have admitted being involved.

Roy Paul, famous international for the Wales team and former captain of the first division Manchester City Club, blew the lid off. This came in a signed article in the Sunday newspaper, The People, Oct. 9.

He said he twice accepted bribes—in one case $1,400—to see that Manchester City was defeated.

British soccer players all are paid the same salary—$67 a week.

Another noted player, Bobby Evans, Chelsea's Scottish International centre half, told newsmen he offered a bribe to an Everton player to throw a game against Chelsea. Evans said later it was all a joke. He was interviewed by Chelsea directors and later played for the club against Birmingham City last Saturday.

Ides of March Wins Co-Favorite Position

LONDON (AP) — Ides of March Tuesday joined Fagus as 14 to 1 joint favorite for next week's running of the Cambridgeshire, last big betting plunge of the English flat racing season.

The colt was an impressive winner at Wolverhampton Saturday and this success, coupled with the news that champion British jockey Lester Piggott is to ride him in the big race at Newmarket was a big encouragement to backers.

He was supported to win £16,000 ($44,800) first money when London's bookies held a callover here Monday night.

Next Wednesday's Cambridgeshire is run over one mile, one furlong and carries the last Irish Sweepstakes of the season.

Fulshaw Cross, a doubtful starter, was the only other horse to attract any new attention at Monday night's callover. Winner of three races this season, the filly was coupled at 16 to 1 with Guitarist, Golden Vision and Jeanne Michelle.

At Monday night's callover 24 horses were listed as probable Cambridgeshire starters. Other odds listed were:

King's Troop, Running Blue, Spring Madness, St. Mark 18 to, 1; Diffidence, Coronella, Thames Trade, Sanctum 20 to 1; Hard and Soft, Lucky Guy 22 to 1; Tylers Hill, Dairialatan, King's Messenger, Mountain King, Net 25 to 1; Robson's Choice, 40 to 1.

Postal Chess Program Includes City Players

Six Victoria men have entered the 14th annual B.C. Correspondence Chess Club for the postal chess championship of the province, including former champion Eric Cox.

Other Victoria players to try their luck are Bob Begg, Fred Hambley, Stan Baker, Stan Turner and Frank Hamilton. All players are invited to enter. Fee is $2 for one section, $3 for two.

Each section is made up of seven players, with the winner getting a chess magazine subscription and advancing to the second round.

Entries may be sent to tournament director Jack Tanner, Dewdney, B.C.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

CANADA

ROYAL COMMISSION ON PUBLICATIONS

In anticipation of forthcoming hearings, submissions are invited from Organizations, Associations and individuals wishing to provide information relating to:

(a) the recent and present position of, and prospects for Canadian magazines and other periodicals with special, but not exclusive consideration being given to problems arising from competition with similar publications which are largely or entirely edited outside of Canada, and largely or entirely foreign in content; and

(b) such measures which, while consistent with the maintenance of the freedom of the press, would contribute to the further development of a Canadian identity through a genuinely Canadian periodical press.

Submissions from Organizations and Associations, in 15 copies [typewritten, double-spaced on one side of legal sized (8½"x14") paper with 2" margins], should reach the Secretary prior to November 15, 1960.

Submissions by individuals may be arranged by contacting the Secretary.

The places and dates of hearings will be announced within the near future.

Organizations, Associations and individuals intending to make submissions are requested to so inform the Secretary without delay.

Judgment in a Week On Barking in Night

Question of a barking dog disturbing the peace will be determined in Saanich police court Oct. 25, when Magistrate William Ostler gives judgment in a trial heard yesterday.

David C. Wright, 5367 Ruston, was charged with harboring an animal that disturbed the peace.

Complainant John A. Long, 5366 Ruston, who said his house was about 75 feet from Wright's, testified he had spoken several times about the night-time barking of Mr. Wright's two-year-old collie dog.

UNABLE TO SLEEP

On Sept. 28 about 2 a.m., he said, the dog had been barking off and on since midnight, and the Longs were unable to sleep, so he telephoned Saanich police.

Saanich Const. Harry Coot said he went to the Wright house in answer to the complaint, and the dog was barking when he went up and knocked at the door. He suggested to Mr. Wright that he calm the dog or take him indoors.

NEVER DISTURBED

Evan M Thorsen, 5368 Sparton, whose house is 60 yards, he said, from Wright's, testified for the defence that the dog had never disturbed him at night.

Mr. Wright told the court he'd done everything he could to co-operate; that for his own sake and that of his wife he would not have a noisy dog; but that he expected a dog to be a watch-dog and give warning of anything unusual outside.

An unusual assortment of charges brought fines totalling $126 for Donald John Penner, 713 Kings Road, when he appeared in city court yesterday. All offences, to which he pleaded guilty, were committed July 8.

He was fined $75 for careless driving, $50 for consuming liquor in a public place, and $1 for jaywalking.

* * *

A suspended sentence and three fines totalling $210 were handed down to Bruce Ernest Blakeman, HMCS Jonquiere, after he had pleaded guilty to charges of uttering a forged document, driving while under suspension, careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Police said Blakeman, whose licence had been suspended, obtained a driver's licence in the name of his brother, then changed it to insert his own name. After being involved in a traffic accident, he failed to stay at the scene.

In Colwood court Monday William Alexander Rosemus, 352 Wishart, was fined $200 for impaired driving and $75 for driving while his licence was under suspension. He had pleaded guilty to both charges.

Uncontrolled TV Exports

Fleming Warns Japan

OTTAWA (UPI) — Finance Minister Fleming said Tuesday that Canada faces a "particularly serious problem" in the increasing uncontrolled exports of electronic radio tubes and television sets from Japan.

Canada has pressed Japan to "take urgent steps to place these under immediate control," he said.

He reported favorable results from Japan's new voluntary quotas on textile exports, but warned further imports from Hong Kong could result in a "disorderly situation" in the Canadian textile market, similar to that of Japanese textile imports a year ago.

Mr. Fleming did not think Canadian attempts to halt the flood of cheap imports would prejudice this country's export trade with Japan which last year amounted to $140,000,000. Canada bought $103,000,000 from Japan in return.

The Canadian government, he said, sought "orderly growth of Japanese exports to Canada," increases of about five to 10 per cent a year in products highly competitive with Canadian products and where the demand in Canada was rising.

Concessions to importing countries to offset tariff barriers on such items as textiles were becoming "progressively harder to find," he said. "The bottom of the tariff barrel has been scraped for previous concessions."

Assize Trial

City Jury Fails To Agree

For the first time since 1953, an Assize Court jury here was unable to agree on a verdict this week.

Trial of David Gordon Underwood, 20, of East Saanich, opened last week before the jury and Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane on a charge of attempted sexual intercourse with a female under the age of 14.

Case went to the jury Monday, and about 9 p.m. it was announced no verdict could be reached.

As a result, a new trial will open next Monday, with a new judge and jury.

Lloyd McKenzie and George MacMinn are acting for the crown, with Rodney Bevan for the defence.

Paper Stocks Make Gains At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials took a beating in a stock market where golds provided the only glitter.

Steels, utilities and assorted favorites were responsible for the weakness among industrials, while papers and banks closed on the up-side.

Ford of Canada reflected market sentiment with a four-point drop at 121.

Howard Smith and MacMillan, Powell led papers higher.

Golds were strong.

Western oils continued a relentless decline.

Major Oils Dip

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed lower. Trading was moderate.

Imperial Oil at 31½ declined ⅞. Steel Co. of Canada at 63½ fell ¾ and B.A. Oil esased ½ at 28¼. Losses of ⅛ were recorded by Ogilvie Flour Mills at 43⅛ and Massey-Ferguson at 8⅝.

On the winning side, Banque Canadienne Nationale gained 1¾ at 51¾ and Bank of Montreal at 53¾ added ¾.

In mines, International Nickel fell ¾ at 47⅝ and Noranda eased ⅛ at 39. Dome gained ¾ at 23 and Aluminium at 29⅝ rose ¼.

Blue Chips Sag

NEW YORK (AP)—Sagging blue chips dragged the stock market down to a fairly sharp loss in quiet trading.

The broad decline took in steels, autos, rails, rubbers, electronics, nonferrous metals, electrical equipments.

Most active was Shattuck which rose ⅝ to 19⅞ on 39,300 shares.

Among active gainers were Monsanto, up 1, and Hafi, up 1⅜.

Westinghouse Electric reported lower third-quarter earnings despite higher billings and the stock fell a point.

MacMillan Rises

VANCOUVER—Most industrials were easier but MacMillan, Powell rose to $14½ and B.C. Power to $32½. Western Plywood at $9½, Consolidated Mining at $17¾ and Cold Lake at 3.15 were lower.

Mines were dull with Kopan slipping 3 cents to .31.

Fort St. John was 1.00 and United 1.14 among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — Unsettled conditions reflected current uncertainties in the consumer and durable goods trades and fading hopes of an early relaxation in the credit squeeze.

Some leading industrials rallied after losing ground earlier in the session, but the general appearance was irregular.

Gilt-edged securities resumed their advance after a hesitant opening but dollar stocks were down.

Gold shares were steadier; coppers were quiet and undecided but tin shares eased.

Oils opened dull, then rallied.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL — The bond market weakened shortly after the opening and some government long-terms dropped about half a point. Later there was some support for the market but prices closed slightly lower on balance.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains were steady to easier in the futures market.

A pickup in export demanded prompt buying of wheat futures around the close, although volume was not heavy. Profit-taking and liquidation by longs tended to balance the trade, with price changes amounting to small fractions.

Pipeline Issue Sparks Scramble for Stocks

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Stockbroking firms in the west had their busiest day of the year yesterday as the public frantically scrambled to get in on the ground floor in the new natural gas pipeline to California.

Business could have been excellent, if only there had been enough shares to meet all demands, but the number of common shares in Alberta Natural Gas Co. and Pacific Gas Transmission Co. offered in Canada were less than 750,000 all told, and this meant brokers had to disappoint many of their would-be customers.

Some firms set a maximum of 50 shares in either company to an individual, but in most cases the allotments were much smaller, thus giving the widest possible distribution.

The shares of Alberta Natural Gas (which will construct a big-inch pipeline on this side of the international border) were sold at $10.50, and those of Pacific Gas Transmission (which will build the line from Canada to the California Bay area) sold at $9.47 a share.

The public interest in the new issues was such as to send the shares up to a premium of over four points in secondary trading.

The issues were distributed primarily to residents in Alberta and British Columbia.

It was the first time in almost two years that the public has found a stock offering that really "tickled the palate."

First 'Rush' In Years

GOOD BUT BAD

Sales of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. for the first nine months of 1960 were a record, but president G. H. Gallaway is not satisfied. He reports business in the third quarter declined and this level is likely to persist in the fourth quarter, with a lower demand and price for plywood and lumber.

Net income for Crown Zellerbach Canada to Sept. 30 was $6,800,000 compared with $5,100,000 a year ago, but Mr. Gallaway notes that in 1959 the industry was beset with a logging strike in the third quarter while this year the results of two subsidiaries were included for the first time.

Dollar sales were $80,900,000, up 16.7 per cent from a year ago.

★ ★ ★

STORE PROFITS HIGH

Net profits of Dominion Stores are running considerably higher than a year ago. Earnings for the six months ended Sept. 17, 1960, were $3,625,880 ($2.25 a share) against $2,717,253 ($1.68) for the corresponding period in 1959.

★ ★ ★

REAL ANTIQUE

British Columbia is well represented on the Canadian Timber Trade Mission at present in Britain with R. H. Edgett, Seaboard Lumber Sales, as deputy spokesman for the group and with Douglas St. G. Anderson representing MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River and Robert G. Annable representing East Asiatic Co., all of Vancouver.

The department of trade and commerce at Ottawa, which has sponsored the mission, has put out an introductory brochure about the mission, and it seems unfortunate that so fine a piece of printing should contain two pictures of the B.C. forest scene that seem "period" pieces, and give a false impression that our industry is primitive.

One shows some lumberjacks in a hemlock grove, dressed in garb and using equipment that appear to belong to the early 1900s, and the other a picture of an outdated steam locie, belching smoke and carrying a load of timber over a wooden trestle.

CITY SELLS SERIALS

The City of Vancouver has sold $3,530,000 of 5¼ per cent and 5½ per cent serial debentures. The 5¼ per cent serials of 1960-1965 have been sold privately, while $260,000 maturing 1966-70 are being offered at 98.39 to yield 5.5 per cent.

Also offered are $2,215,000 5½ per cent serials dated from Nov. 15, 1971 to 1980. The average price of the offering is 99 to yield 5.6 per cent. The bonds are non-callable.

The City of Saskatoon has also sold $1,431,000 in 5¼ per cent serials and 5½ per cent sinking fund debentures to mature 1980.

★ ★ ★

GAS MOVED IN

The distribution and sale of Canadian natural gas began in two cities in North Dakota and Minnesota this week, and other communities in the Red River valley will be hooked up with the new energy within the next week or two.

First cities to be served were Moorhead, Minn. and Fargo, North Dakota.

The gas is being moved into the U.S. at Emerson through the Trans-Canada pipeline system, and the operation has started ahead of schedule.

An address on business systems will be given in the Pacific Club, this evening by Eric Van Allan of Vancouver to the Victoria chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants.

British Oppose Car Price Hike

LONDON (CP) — British car manufacturers are going to fight for a reversal of a Canadian decision that will have the effect of making their vehicles more expensive in Canada.

"We're not going to take the Canadian move lying down," said Geoffrey Rootes, president of the British Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders and a director of the Rootes group.

In an interview during the preview to the 1960 Motor Show, Rootes said the society plans to put the British case strongly before the royal commission set up to recommend measures to be taken by both the Canadian government and the car industry to increase production.

Last week it was reported from Ottawa that the price of imported British and foreign cars will increase Dec. 1 as a result of a decision of the revenue department to revise the valuation of imports.

The Ottawa decision comes at a time when both British and European manufacturers are being forced to curtail production because of the uncertainty of future markets.

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED CANADA

Educate, Not Ban, Board's Decision on Raw Milk

Strongly opposed to consumption of raw milk, the Victoria-Esquimalt health board nevertheless has decided not to press for prohibition of its sale.

"There's no question that banning it would be very desirable," Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt said at a board meeting yesterday. "On the other hand, Canadians have a trait inherent in all of us: we don't like compulsion.

"The board of health is on record, and wisely so, as endorsing bylaws to allow sale only of pasteurized milk, but that's not acceptable to our councils. It's as simple as that."

Best the board can do, he suggested — and other members agreed — is to "try to educate the public so the small minority now using raw milk will eventually see the benefits of pasteurized milk and the damage raw milk can do."

Raw milk, he said, can carry such diseases as rheumatic fever, osteomylelitis and scarlet fever as well as undulant fever and tuberculosis.

"It's said that only 2 per cent of the milk consumed is raw milk," said school trustee Richard Reeve, chairman. "But if only 2 per cent of the people contracted one of these diseases, we'd be in trouble."

"It's not the 2 per cent I'm worried about," said Coun. Sammon. "One-quarter of 1 per cent can acquire them, and transmit them to the people drinking pasteurized milk."

Fire Attracts Crowd

Crowd gathers to watch firemen fight a fire that heavily damaged two houses at May and Moss Streets yesterday.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Elderly Roomer Led from Flames

An elderly man who tried to enter a blazing two-storey frame house to save his belongings was rescued yesterday by a passerby when a sheet of flame stopped him from reaching his room on the second floor.

Mortimer W. Hames, 84, of 1325 May Street was led to safety by Percy South, 241 Beechwood.

After firemen had extinguished the blaze, police recovered most of Mr. Hames' belongings, including a wallet containing $27 in cash.

Mr. Hames said he noticed smoke coming through the window of his room at 3.30 p.m.

"I ran downstairs and shouted for someone to call the fire department," he said, "I don't understand how these phones work.

Mr. South was on his way home from work and had just let out a passenger when he saw the fire. He and three unidentified men ran into the house and looked in all the rooms to make sure no one was trapped.

"After we'd searched the house, the old man started up the stairs," Mr. South said. "I told him he'd better come back and led him down."

Unaware that his belongings would be recovered, Mr. Hames stood in shirtsleeves in a neighbor's home.

"All I've got is what I stand up in," he said.

He had no insurance on his things.

Firemen said the blaze may have been started by children in a shed of an abandoned house adjoining 1325 May. It was also heavily damaged. The shed was totally demolished.

Other occupants of the rooming house were out at the time of the blaze.

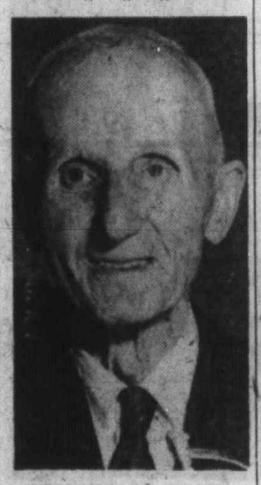

George Simmons, 80, was visiting his son, Joseph Toth was at work at the experimental farm at Saanichton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Meagher, the downstairs occupants, lost most of their belongings in the blaze. They had no insurance.

The house is insured and is owned by Mrs. Gladys Mason of Vancouver.

Mr. Hames was taken to a rest home at 1739 Hollywood. Mrs. Meagher and Mr. Simmons will spend the night with relatives. Mr. Toth planned to spend the night in his room at the house, "as a sort of a watchman."

Pearson To Visit Victoria

Victoria is on the itinerary of Opposition Leader Lester B. Pearson during a visit to the west late next month, B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault said yesterday.

Mr. Pearson will attend the annual meeting of the B.C. party Nov. 25 and is expected to speak here subsequently. A federal by-election will be held within six months in Esquimalt-Saanich, vacated by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

Scurrah's Reply

Hold Wage Line No Matter What

No matter what industry does, the municipal wage line should be held this year, Mayor Percy Scurrah said yesterday.

Robert Barrie, president of the Victoria Labor Council, said Monday that if municipal leaders are right in calling on labor to hold the line on wages, industry should set an example by cutting profits.

"Let industry carry the ball for itself," replied Mayor Scurrah. "I'm not representing industry. I'm not representing any special section of the community.

"I'm representing all the people, and I know from many, many letters, telephone calls and personal contacts that the limit has been reached as far as taxes are concerned."

Fallout Tests Constant

If radioactivity in B.C. were to approach a dangerous level, medical health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy said yesterday, provincial authorities would inform local health units "right away."

Tests are being conducted "all the time," Dr. Mahaffy told the Victoria-Esquimalt health board after Ald. M. H. Mooney raised the question.

National Librarian Speaks Thursday

Dr. William Kaye Lamb, Dominion archivist and national librarian, will address a public meeting at 8.15 p.m. Thursday in the music room of the Public Library.

He will speak on "Canada's National Library" under auspices of Friends of the Victoria Public Library. Dr. Lamb was formerly UBC archivist and librarian.

'Mediterranean' Scheme Endorsed by Scurrah

Publicity bureau plan to advertise Vancouver Island on the Prairies as the "Mediterranean area of Canada" was enthusiastically endorsed yesterday by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

"I think there's a big market for visitors from the Prairies that hasn't been exploited as much as it should," he said.

Mayor Dashes Hope Of Winning $65,000

Mayor Percy Scurrah yesterday dashed the hope of the B.C. Agricultural Association of collecting $65,000 from Victoria city.

The association claimed that $65,000 collected by the city in fire insurance after two buildings burned down at the old Willows fairground should have been held in trust for it, but instead was used by city council in financing the Memorial Arena.

But yesterday Mayor Scurrah produced a 1947 letter from the attorney-general's office to the minister of municipal affairs confirming the right of the city to the insurance proceeds.

"I couldn't see how the council of the day could have spent the money without legal authority," the mayor said, "so we looked and dug that up out of the records."

Navy Blamed for Net-Ripping Bombs

The navy is being blamed by otter trawl fishermen for dumping 300-pound bombs, 1,000-pound mine carriages and five-foot-long ammunition boxes, which are being caught in fishing nets and causing hundreds of dollars damage.

These objects, fishermen complain, are being dumped on the main fishing grounds where cod nets are dragged along the bottom, instead of being dumped in non-fishable waters.

Yesterday the Willow Point trawler picked up a bomb which tore through its nets and the Western Maid picked up two of the heavyweight bombs.

The federal fisheries research vessel Investigator I has hooked onto three bombs which have torn big chunks out of the trawl nets.

Casings from four-inch shells have also been picked from the ocean bottom at the 50-fathom depth.

Mildness To Stay Day More

Downtown temperatures yesterday rose above the Oct. 18 record of 65 degrees set in 1944 but an official recording of 64 degrees was taken at the weather office on exposed Gonzales Hill.

Weatherman William Mackie last night held hopes that Victoria's unusually mild weather will last at least another day before an onslaught of chilly winds and rain.

Mrs. Harrison

Ex-Mayor's Wife Hurt in Fall

The wife of a former Victoria mayor received minor injuries yesterday when she tripped over a 1½-inch hose at a city street corner.

Mrs. Claude L. Harrison injured her left arm and bumped her forehead in a fall at Government and Yates at 11.25 a.m. She was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police said she apparently tripped over an uncovered part of a hose which ran from a hydrant across the street on Government and up Yates to Broad. The hose belonged to the city street lighting department which was cutting the sidewalk to lay a cable for lights, police said.

Health Unit Protests B.C. Permits

Victoria-Esquimalt health board yesterday went on record as protesting against the province issuing permits for homes in a subdivision on Portage Inlet with a sand filter sewage disposal system.

The subdivision is on Kingham Place in View Royal.

The provincial health department has found the disposal system satisfactory, the board was informed.

"But our local health authorities did not agree," said Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt. "The municipal engineers were absolutely opposed."

May Be Molester, Police Begin Search

Police were searching early this morning for a young man who talked his way past women into at least three city homes last night and tried to steal a kiss from a housewife.

At the fourth home a youth answered the door and he left.

He was allowed into the homes by sympathetic housewives who believed his requests for assistance were sincere.

SAME PERSON?

Although the youth showed no tendency towards violence, police believe he may be the same person who threw a 74-year-old woman to the ground Monday night near Vancouver and Princess Streets, some 12 blocks south of last night's incidents.

Mrs. H. Smith, 3024 Quadra, told police the young man knocked at her door shortly after 9 p.m. and asked if he could use the bathroom. Caught off guard by the unusual request, she showed him to the bathroom.

ASKED FOR KISS

When the youth returned to the front of the house, he put his arms around the woman and asked her for a kiss. Mrs. Smith started screaming and he ran away.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Joseph Beales, 1132 Finlayson, opened her front door to a man who wanted to use the telephone. The man used the telephone but left when Mrs. Beales said that Ernie Bitterman, of the same address, was in the home.

GOT NERVOUS

Mrs. Patricia Combe, 1050 Finlayson, permitted the youth to "telephone his mother" because she thought he might have been involved in an automobile accident.

"He dialed a bunch of odd numbers and then muttered something about the line being busy," said Mrs. Combe. "I started to get nervous. I stood by the door and held it open.

JUST MUDDLED

"My mother was in the living room and my three children were asleep in another part of the house. The man talked incoherently; he wasn't a bright person, just muddled things up. I told him my husband was asleep and he went away."

Mrs. Combe watched the stranger go next door, then telephoned her neighbor after the man had gone. Brent Draper, about 18, 1040 Finlayson, had answered the door and the man simply asked how to get to town, said Mrs. Combe.

SEEMED MENTAL

At least two of the women later told police the man "appeared mental."

The stranger was described as between 19 and 22 years old, five feet nine inches tall, of stocky build and wearing a short white jacket. His long hair was combed straight back.

Police suspect he was the same man who Monday night grabbed Mrs. Winnifred Chant, 74, of 2117 Vancouver, near Vancouver and Princess, while she was walking her dog at 11.50 p.m.

RAN AT SCREAM

He grabbed both her wrists and threw her to the ground but ran north on Vancouver when Mrs. Chant screamed.

At 11.30 the same night, Mrs. L. Heath, 1731 Cook, said a man of the same description tried to force his way into her apartment; and at 11.37 p.m. a resident of 1168 Caledonia said a man—again the same description—banged on the front door wanting to rent a room.

A strand of hair is used in each hydrograph operated by the forest service to gauge the humidity content in the forests during the fire season. Local supplies weren't suitable—too much peroxide—so the hair had to be imported from the United Kingdom.

But not any more, thanks to a news story.

Mr. Monk yesterday received a box of golden-reddish hair, newly-shampooed, from Mrs. Stuart Buck of Port Rowan, Ont., and offers to sell blonde hair from two women in New Jersey.

Mrs. Buck explained that she was now grey but had kept her golden locks for many years.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Here are the facts: I'm 60, my husband is 66; we've been married 32 years. Raised seven children, all grown, six living at home. Husband no sentimentalist; never took family on outing or gave a compliment. We managed to stay together and live in peace. Home comfortable—no palace, but nice. Three bedrooms, crowded but ample. Four boys share large bedroom, two girls in other.

Trouble: Husband's mother, 90 years old, recently widowed, sickly, disagreeable. Husband's three sisters decided I should inherit the old lady. They each have spare rooms. I'd have to put her up in the living room. I refused flat. Husband pouting. Says I'm meanest woman alive. Should I reconsider? — MEANEST WOMAN?

★ ★ ★

Dear Not So Mean: No. 90-year-old in living room would turn home into infirmary. One of husband's sisters with bedroom should take Mother in or all kids contribute to support in rest home. Let husband pout. Burden on YOU if Grandma moved in—not HIM.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I can't see daylight on this. Maybe you can help.

I've been divorced almost five years. My daughters are six and seven years of age. Two years ago I started to go with a lovely man. He likes my little girls and they like him. We planned to marry late in the fall so I told my girls that I was quitting my job to marry Ben.

The six-year-old said "Goody" but the seven-year-old went into a crying spell and screamed "No, you can't do that!"

She wouldn't stop crying until I promised her I'd wait a while longer. She kept saying "I want you to marry Daddy again." This is impossible because my first husband has a terrible temper and we fought all the time. We could never make a go of it.

If this child is going to be unhappy I'd rather continue to work the rest of my life and stay single. Please tell me what to do.—MAY B.

Dear May: If you're so brainless that you'd permit a seven-yeor-old to lead you around by the nose you ought to stay single. The man deserves better.

Women who pass up a chance to make a life for themselves because their kids kick up a fuss should look ahead about 10 years. Whe these same kids want to go off and have a life of their own—they go. And so it should be—both ways.

Dear Ann: I was disappointed when you told a reader, "When two people who have been married 20 years never have a difference of opinion, one of them is unnecessary."

My husband and I just celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary. We have never had an argument. What do you say to that, Mrs. Know-It-All? —LOVEBIRDS.

★ ★ ★

Dear Lovebirds: The only thing I can figure out is that you haven't settled the first one.

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann: I have a suggestion for the mother who complained because her son's girl friend was staining his white shirts with indelible lipstick.

I raised five sons and I'm an expert at this. Just put a little uncooked shortening on the lipstick stain. After an hour or so it will be ready for the washing machine. A regular detergent will finish the job.—X-PERT.

Christmas In October

Christmas in October was the theme of the recent Mooseheart and Moosehaven meeting in the Moose Home, 512 Fort Street. Women of the Moose Victoria Chapter 25 had a decorated tree in the hall and supper tables in festive arrangements at the meeting, at which senior regent M. Ilott presided. Mrs. E. Rundle was welcomed and enrolled into the chapter. Announcements were made concerning a country fair to be held at the Moose home Friday, Dec. 2; evening church services at Victoria Truth Centre Sunday, Oct. 23, to commemorate the founding in 1913 of the Child City, Mooseheart, Lodge 1390; a banquet and halloween dance to be held at Dulcies, 512 Fort Street, Saturday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m.

Sunday, Oct. 30, Victoria chapter will be hostess to co-workers from B.C. chapters attending convocation of Women of the Moose. Former deputy grand regent D. Guelpa will preside and conduct capping ceremony of junior graduate regents. Ritual practice for local officers will be held Wednesday, Oct. 19, in the evening. Next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 27.

What's Cooking

By LOUISE MOORE

French cooking brings back nostalgic memories of mother's cooking — nothing exotic because in those days money wasn't any too plentiful. But her kitchen was redolent of the good things she used in her dishes — herbs and spices which flourished in her own garden and used to turn the simplest dish into a gourmet's triumph.

At New Year's a roast goose was stuffed in the old French way with diced steak. It was simmered long and slowly with onion until tender as chicken. The liquid was absorbed when it was seasoned with cinnamon, salt, pepper, a bit of herbs and mixed with creamy mashed potatoes. When that goose came out of the oven, a crisp golden brown oozing with fragrance, what a heavenly aroma.

Another of her favorites was Beef Burgundy and sometimes for a Sunday breakfast we had — well here are a few of her specialties:

ROGNONS FLAMBE

Wash 3 or 4 veal kidneys thoroughly and slice them, removing all membrane. Saute in 3 or 4 tblsp. butter 2 minutes over high heat.

Add 1 cup or more of sliced mushrooms which have been blanched for a few minutes in boiling water and a little lemon juice.

Remove most of fat in pan, and cook mixture about 5 minutes over low heat. Season with salt and pepper freshly ground. When ready to serve, flame with 3 tblsp. cognac or brandy, shaking the pan while flamed.

Now add 2 or 3 tblsp. heavy cream, ½ tsp. dry mustard and a dash worcestershire. Simmer slowly until kidneys are tender.

Serve on toast points. Serves 3 to 4.

BEEF BURGUNDY

Cut 2 lbs. round steak into 1½-inch cubes and brown nicely and quickly in 2 tblsp. hot butter. Pour on 2 tblsp. sherry and let get piping hot. Remove meat to another dish and in the fat brown as many small white onions as needed to serve—this recipe calls for 24 and serves 6.

Brown them quickly, add a dozen fresh mushrooms quartered or sliced and cook for 1 minute. Add 1 tsp. tomato paste, 1 tsp. meat glaze (get it at your grocer and if you can't just omit it.) Add 3 tblsp. flour and stir until smooth.

Pour on 1 cup stock or consomme and stir until mixture is smooth, thickened and comes to a boil.

Add ¼ cup Burgundy, salt and pepper to taste. Add the meat and a bit of thyme or a bouquet of herbs and 2 tblsp. chopped parsley.

Cover and simmer gently until meat is tender — about 1½ to 2 hours. Serve with a sprinkling of fresh parsley and a tossed salad.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. Harvell Hibbs, 2847 Austin Avenue, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, June Winifred, to Mr. Ernest Harold Cawston, Vancouver. The wedding will take place Friday, Nov. 11, at 10 a.m., in the Christadelphian Hall, Kings Road and Blanshard Street.

Theatre First Love Of New Victorians

Among the interested audience at the forthcoming "Under Milk Wood" by Dylan Thomas, to be performed this week will be Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Lambertson who came to live in Victoria recently from Halifax.

Shortly after their arrival here the Lambertsons joined the Victoria Theatre Guild, who will produce the play for voices Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In Halifax, Dr. Lambertson was associated with the department of English at the University of Dalhousie-Kings. He also taught at Victoria College for two successive summers and is now with the English department there.

Dr. Lambertson is a musical composer, known in Canada and England, and has written a great deal of material for the CBC. His musicale "Bonanza" is perhaps his most widely known work. It had to do with the oil wells of Alberta. The book was written in Vancouver by Jimmy Richardson, while Dr. Lambertson wrote the lyrics and music in Halifax. It grossed over $20,000 in Halifax, in the initial stage production. Later "Bonanza" was chosen by the BBC for its gala opening program on their commerical TV network.

He also composed the music for "The Wendigo of Forbidden Plateau".

Dr. Lambertson played his way through his undergraduate years at the University of Alberta, where Mrs. Lambertson also studied. Together they have produced and directed many dramatic and musical productions, he taking charge of the music, she the acting. Mrs. Lambertson is a competent actress and director in her own right.

They have many interests. Dr. Lambertson is an authority on the origin of names, and in his years in Nova Scotia made a study of poltergysts.

They live at 1608 Richardson St. with their three children, Ross, Hildegarde, and Jennifer.

Tips For Parents

By HELEN R. HEWSON

When more than 400 Canadians met in Ste. Adele, Que., to discuss Canadian children, their deliberations were based on careful studies that have been made over the past three years.

One study, conducted by a Manitoba group, reported on children's reading. Librarians in eight provinces participated in the study and their reports should certainly make parents sit up and take notice.

Right at the top of the list of "Factors that Discourage Children's Reading" is lack of family interest. Poor reading ability is a close second, and competing diversions was considered to be a less serious deterrent than these two.

Parents are odd creatures. Most of them work and worry to provide comfortable and attractive homes for their children, they pile their shopping carts high with good, nourishing food, their driveways are cluttered with wagons and bicycles, a television antenna tops the roof—but they skimp on food for the mind.

Parents know quite well that knowledge is the key to a richer, fuller life and to a better job. They go to Home and School meetings and ask for help to make more willing and industrious students of their children.

The surest answer is in their own hands. Put some good books on those home shelves.

Children don't have to be urged to learn — it comes naturally. They explore, examine, ask questions, as soon as they can move about and talk.

5 DEATHS AND FUNERALS

ROSS—Passed away on Friday, October 14, 1960, at the Veterans' Hospital, Leslie Charles Ross, aged 51 years, late of Malahat P.O., a native son of Victoria. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow, Dora, at the home of her father, Mr. W. Cheer, 2329 Howard Street, and one daughter, Alice Margaret; also survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross of Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. S. (Muriel) Pascareta, Victoria. He was a veteran of the Second World War, serving overseas with the R.C.A.S.C. He was a member of Prince Rupert Lodge, A.R. & A.M., and a member of Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion.
Funeral service will be held in McCall Bros.' Floral Funeral Chapel, corner of Vancouver and Johnson Streets, Wednesday, October 19, 1960, at 11 a.m., Padre Douglas Kendell officiating. Interment in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

SMITH—Suddenly at the residence, 2768 Millstream Road, Langford, B.C., on October 15, 1960, Baby Rhonda May Smith, age 6 weeks; predeceased by her father, Ronald Smith, in March, 1960. She leaves her mother, Donalda May Smith, her brothers, Jack, Denny and Paul, and her sister, Betti-Jean, at home; her grandparents, Mr. W. Smith, 1063 Dunford Ave., Langford, B.C., Mrs. D. McLaughlin, and Mrs. Art Heal, Ganges, B.C.; her great-grandmothers, Mrs. C. Ryan, Ganges, B.C., and Mrs. A. Sparrow, Victoria, B.C.; her great-great-grandmother, Mrs. M. Lumley, Victoria, B.C.; also aunts and uncles.
Funeral services will be held in the Sands Funeral Chapel of Heather, Colwood, B.C., on Wednesday, October 19th, 1960, at 11 a.m. Rev. D. A. Hatfield officiating. Interment in the Hatley Memorial Gardens.

SMITH — In Victoria, on Sunday, Oct. 16, 1960 John Thomas Smith, of 1243 Oakmount Road. Born in Sheffield, England, the late Mr. Smith had resided at Merritt, B.C., before moving to Victoria 25 years ago. Survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ada Rhodes, in Victoria; three grandsons, two granddaughters and seven great-grandchildren.
Rev. Canon R. E. H. Howell will conduct funeral services in the Chaplin Funeral Chapel on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at 2 p.m., followed by interment in the Hatley Memorial Gardens.

WALLS—In Victoria on Tuesday, Oct. 18, 1960, Robert Walls of 706 Blanshard St. Born in Newcastle-on-Tyne, England. Mr. Walls had been a resident of Victoria since 1912.
Funeral services will be held in Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Haultain St., on Saturday, Oct. 22, at 11 a.m., to be followed by interment in the Royal Oak Burial Park. Chaplin's are in charge of funeral arrangements.

8 CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking all our friends and neighbors for their kind help, flowers and messages of sympathy in the sad loss of a dear husband and uncle, Arthur Pellow. A special thanks to the doctors, nurses and orderlies of the Veterans' Hospital, the War Amputations Association, Padre Kendell and Hayward Funeral Directors.—Ann Pellow, Jean Haverty and family.

9 IN MEMORIAM

KIRK—In memory of Lilian Kirk.
It's 12 months ago today since you passed away. I took you to the hospital and you faded fast away, for cancer had no pity for your beautiful eyes and greying hair. Living with memories you left with me. 'Til we meet again.
—Bill, Oct. 19, 1960.

McCALL—In loving memory of David Moore McCall, who passed away October 18, 1955.
—By the Family.

TV TALK

The second "live" show announced within a few days by Victoria's Channel 6 will appeal to wrestling fans.

Starting at 2 p.m. Saturday, the weekly show will feature interviews, short matches and discussions about the sport with visiting wrestlers.

★ ★ ★

"Airborne Alert", the story of how the United States keeps a flight of nuclear-armed bombers in the air at all times, will be seen at 1.30 p.m. Saturday.

This program has already been seen once locally.

"Could you carry in the TV set first and plug it in?"

Highlights

1.30 p.m. — Thomas Cronin, the English butler who resigned from Princess Margaret's employ partly because her husband "lacked dignity," shares the House Party spotlight with a group of seven-year-olds —7, 11 and 12.

8—Wrestling. From Tacoma—13.

10—Step on the Gas is a 60-minute musical spoof on United States drivers. Stars are Jackie Cooper, Shirley Jones, Hans Conried and Shari Lewis—7 and 11.

10.30—Challenge takes a satirical look at the detective story—4.

Wednesday's Movies

10.30 a.m.—Paris Express (1953 English drama), Claude Rains—6.

1 p.m.—Road House (1948 melodrama), Richard Widmark—6.

3.30—Born to Dance (1936 musical comedy), Eleanor Powell—5.

6.30—Lisbon (1956 smuggling drama), Ray Milland—6.

11—Mexican Manhunt (1953 mystery), George Brent—11.

★ 11.15—Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House (1948 comedy), Cary Grant, Myrna Loy, Melvyn Douglas—12.

11.20—Men With Wings (1938 air drama), Ray Milland—7.

11.25—Marry Me Again (1953 comedy), Robert Cummings—6.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

There are many hands in which counting will help declarer to guess right on a finesse by playing in accordance with the percentages. But today's deal offers a different kind of count which makes it impossible for declarer to guess wrong.

It also includes two examples of a simple entry-killing play—one by the defence and the other by the declarer. North's bidding problem rounds out a good example for any bridge teacher's lesson book.

Vul: E—W

♠ 9
♥ 7 6 3
♦ Q 6 5

WEST
♠ Q J 10 8 6 2
♥ Q 9 8 2
♦ 9 4
♣ 6

EAST
♠ K 7 5
♥ A 10 5
♦ 10 8 7 3

SOUTH (D)
♠ A 4 3
♥ K J 4
♦ A K J 2
♣ 10 9 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: ♠ Q

If he guesses correctly, it happens that North can make five clubs against anything but a heart opening, but with only eight points in high cards, North was correct to shoot for the no-trump game. His three no-trump bid is a slight gamble, but the powerful six-card suit promises some play for game even opposite a minimum no-trump opening.

Declarer ducked the first two spade tricks in hopes of exhausting East's cards in the suit and thus cutting communications between the defenders' hands. After winning the ace of spades on the third trick, South led clubs and East used the same holdup play, hoping to prevent declarer from making use of dummy's long suit. (He could not know, of course, that North's queen of diamonds was a sure entry.)

West signaled violently by discarding the nine of hearts, then the four of diamonds. So on winning the ace of clubs, East returned the five of hearts. Considering only the heart suit itself, South would have to guess whether to play the jack of hearts, finessing against East for the queen, or the king of hearts, playing East for the ace. But in this deal declarer could not go wrong simply by counting his tricks. If West had the ace of hearts, nothing could prevent him from taking three more spade tricks. Only if South could win an immediate trick in hearts could the contract be made.

South played the king of hearts and made four no-trump. Finessing the jack would have put him down four.

Convicts Give Up Quickly

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Three guards were overpowered and held as hostages for more than six hours early Tuesday by convict-patients in the hospital ward of the Connecticut state prison.

The guards were released unharmed when prison officials granted the convicts' demand for a conference with a lawyer and a state representative. The few convicts involved gave themselves up.

Bonnie Fund Near $125 Still Growing

Twenty-two donors have given a total of $123.75 towards the Bonnie Barrett Colwood Bursary Fund and "money is still coming in," a spokesman for Sands funeral home said last night.

The plan, which will provide a bursary of $25 for deserving Colwood high school graduates who intend to take teacher training, was orginated by Mrs. Marie Gaunt, 3369 Painter Road. Mrs. Gaunt is a friend of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gordon Barrett, 1993 Colwood Crescent, whose 10-year-old daughter Bonnie died last Saturday.

Bonnie had dreamed of becoming a school teacher when she grew up and "teaching school" was her favorite game. Mrs. Gaunt hopes other children with the same ambition will be able to achieve their goal through the bursary fund.

Medical Racket Charged

'Cure-All' Bilked Film Stars

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — A doctor and two real estate men were arraigned Tuesday on charges of operating a "cure-all" medical racket in which movie stars and others were bilked for fees up to $25,000.

Police said the defendants claimed their clients included the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, actress Mary Pickford and actor Bob Cummings. Treatments consisted of injections of broken-down animal cells.

Garden Notes

Rotary Pros, Cons

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One question occupying the minds of a lot of gardeners these days is whether rotary cultivation is a good or a bad thing for the garden. Several experimental stations, both on this continent and in Europe, have set up long-term tests, comparing the results with the traditional use of the spade or plow, and their findings are most interesting.

The action of the rotary cultivator is to pulverize the soil and charge it with air. It also chops up the roots of perennial weeds, leaving them just below the surface where each piece can easily start into growth again.

This is one black mark against rotary cultivation; if perennial weeds are present—particularly couch grass—they will build up very rapidly when cultivation is infrequent, say, once a year. On the other hand, these same weeds can be cleared out completely by three rotary cultivations, starting in the spring and repeated every time the weeds show green. Of course, the plot cannot be cropped during this period.

The lesson here is quite clear; perennial weeds must be eradicated first, either by frequent rotary cultivations or by chemicals.

There is some evidence to indicate that annual weeds are worse after rotary cultivation, too. This is due in part to the fact that any weed seeds in the soil are retained near the surface and not buried deeply, as in digging. Another reason is that the well pulverized and aerated soil induces rapid and vigorous germination of weed seeds as well as those of the cultivated crop. Annual weeds, however, are no particular problem, for the between-row alleys must be hoed or cultivated anyhow, and whether there are 10 weeds or 10,000, the work is the same.

It has been noted that crops and flowering plants show a better response to farmyard manure after rotary cultivation than when it is dug in. This is probably due to the fact that the manure is mixed more thoroughly into the soil and is held closer to the surface where the plant roots can get at it. At one time it was thought that plant roots could be coaxed and attracted into the deeper layers of soil by burying manure deeply, rather like hanging a carrot in front of a donkey's nose. It is known now that roots are not "attracted" anywhere—they search blindly for nutrients and moisture, stopping to exploit any stratas of rich fare encountered. When manure is mixed thinly and thoroughly through the soil, the roots tend to ramify more, making a bigger and more efficient root system.

Two items on the debit side are a tendency for the soil to form a "pan" or hard, impervious layer six or eight inches down, just under the depth of rotary cultivation, and an inclination for the finely pulverized surface soil to puddle when wet and form a crust upon drying.

The first effect develops only after the soil has been rotary-cultivated, always to the same depth, over quite a period of time, and is prevented easily simply by digging or plowing deeply every other year. The second effect—puddling—develops only when the soil is short of humus, and for this reason, bulky organic manures should always go hand in hand with rotary cultivation.

Duel Ending in Dual Venture?

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — John Wayne ran into Frank Sinatra at a social function recently, and Frank said, "Let's make a motion picture together." "You're on," replied Wayne, thus disproving the feud that reportedly started about a month ago when the big man was supposed to have pushed the little man at the "SHARE" party. The only person who got pushed was a newspaperman—by Sinatra, of course.

★ ★ ★

And Jack Kennedy, by design or by accident, used "The Alamo" ad slogan when he was in Texas: "The mission that became a frontier, the frontier that became a shrine." . . . The Wayne $12,000,000 biggie — does any picture cost less nowadays? — includes $1,300,000 for advertising!

Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller are due back in Manhattan in three weeks from Reno and "The Misfits." And if the current lovey-doveyness between them is make-believe they are better at acting than we've known them to be!

Jack Lemmon's date in Boston for "Face of a Hero" was the first time in 15 years that Jack had visited his home town since he left it that long ago. The play opens this week in New York and girl-friend Felicia Farr is hoping to attend the premiere.

Now it is definite that Sophia Loren will co-star with Charlton Heston in "El Cid," although at first she said, "No, it's a man's picture." . . . No picture with Sophia in it is a "man's picture."

Good news for the wealthy widow, Mrs. Joan Cohn. Laurence Harvey's picture, "The Spinster," was to have been made in New Zealand. The location has now been changed to Hollywood. But whether this will do Mrs. Cohn any good remains to be seen. Harvey would rather stay single after his divorce from Margaret Leighton.

Arthritis, Sclerosis 'Cure'

'Honest Man' Found

Doctor Given Bee Secrets

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. Julia Owens, the Briton who claims she can cure arthritis and rheumatic troubles with bee venom, said Monday she has given the secret of her special treatment to a Montreal doctor.

"I've searched the world over to leave my treatment in safe hands before I die and now I've found him," Mrs. Owen, 53, said in an interview.

The Montreal doctor is Dr. Joseph Saine, who has a private clinic where he treats patients suffering from arthritis, rheumatism, eczema and similar diseases.

Mrs. Owen said she could have sold the bee cure for "millions of dollars" but preferred to give it to Dr. Saine for nothing "because he is an honest man."

There is only one condition, she said. He must not sell the secret during her lifetime.

Dr. Saine, a medical graduate of Laval University in Quebec City, will fly to England shortly to examine and study records at Mrs. Owen's two London clinics and to watch her administer the bee treatment.

He said he has successfully treated multiple sclerosis, arthritis and epilepsy patients who had been pronounced incurable.

His patients receive milk treatments, gold injections and protein therapy and many are also treated with an electrical process.

Both Dr. Saine and Mrs. Owen said there are no incurable cases of multiple sclerosis, a nervous disorder, or arthritis.

Mrs. Owen arrived in Montreal two weeks ago to find a patient to repay the city for hospitality to her husband, a retired naval officer, received during the Second World War.

Last week she said Mrs. Evelyn Opal of Montreal, crippled with multiple sclerosis, will leave shortly for six to eight months free treatment at her clinic in Bromley, a suburb of London.

Alberta Doctors 'Watch' Saskatchewan Scheme

REGINA (CP) — Alberta doctors are viewing the Saskatchewan CCF government's compulsory prepaid medical care plan with apprehension, Dr. J. W. Kettlewell of Edmonton said yesterday.

The assistant registrar of the Alberta College of Physicians and Surgeons said in an interview doctors in Alberta are watching Saskatchewan developments with interest.

Dr. Kettlewell said the Social Credit government of Alberta is not interested in legislating a government-sponsored medical plan.

Effect of the Saskatchewan plan, when in operation, will not be too great, he said. But, if such a plan were adopted by British Columbia, there would be pressure on Alberta.

Show Business

By Dick Williams

On Nov. 14 while husband Bob Waterfield is still busy coaching the Los Angeles Rams, Jane Russell will fly to South America to open a three-week nightclub tour in Rio de Janeiro.

Jane loves to travel but her husband doesn't, so she uses this means to see the world. Last year she made a similar tour in Italy and Spain where she was received with great enthusiasm.

These personal appearance tours reminded her of a trip she once made of key U.S. cities with Bob Hope to promote a new movie they had made together.

She slept past the time she was supposed to appear on stage for the first show of the day. Luckily her hotel was next door to the theatre and she was hurriedly summoned.

Jane wrapped a coat over her nightgown, rushed to the theatre and out onto the stage where Hope was holding forth with a monologue.

"I'm not ready," she told him, ignoring the astonished audience. "Keep on talking while I go back to get made up!"

More Excitement at Fulford

Bad Eagle Eating Pet Cat Carries Things Too Far!

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD—If you live in the country you see things that are usually only read about—and sometimes it is better just to read about them.

This time, it's a bold, bad eagle. The big, majestic monster of the sky ate Frank Pyatt's cat! Right in front of his eyes and not 30 feet from his door.

"If that isn't carrying things too far, I'd like to know what is," said Frank as he told the story through the window of his mail car.

"I had read about eagles running off with lambs and small animals—and even babies, but never thought I'd see one come so close to home and steal a pet cat."

All the eagle left of the cat were the hind legs, Frank said.

Victoria Tug Away Today

The deepsea tug Cambrian Salvor is scheduled to leave Island Tug and Barge Ltd. wharf in the Inner Harbor at 8 a.m. today to pick up two former Liberty ships for a 4,500-mile tow to Hiroshima, Japan. Sister ship Sudbury II delivered two of the ships to Japan last weekend, bringing to 20 the number of ships towed safely across the North Pacific by ITB.

Republicans Rule Out TV Debates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Republicans accused the Democrats yesterday of seeking "one-way" concessions in arrangements for the Nixon-Kennedy TV debates and ruled out any more face-to-face appearances after Friday night.

The Democrats retorted that Republican Richard Nixon only wanted to "get out of the debates as soon as possible" because his Democratic rival, Sen. John Kennedy, was beating him.

Norway Gives Precedent

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has under "active consideration" the question of whether to declare a 12-mile fishing limit off Canada's seacoasts, authorities said Tuesday.

There was no indication when a decision might be announced. The present fishing and territorial limit, based on the range of 18th-century cannon, is three miles.

Canadian action may be spurred, however, by the announcement earlier this month by Norway, another country with large coastal fisheries, that its limits will be extended next year to 12 miles from four.

The three-mile limit has been a matter for serious complaint by Canadian fishermen for years. While some Canadian trawlers have to remain outside a 12-mile limit as a Canadian conservation measure, foreign trawlers may and do fish up to the three-mile limit.

Last April 26, the world Conference on the Law of the Sea at Geneva failed by a single vote to set a new universal limit for territorial waters and exclusive fishing rights.

Canada and the United States proposed a six-mile territorial limit with countries to have exclusive fishing rights for six more miles beyond their territorial waters after 1970. The proposal was known as the "six plus six."

The U.S., Portugal, Spain and France have long held historic fisning rights off Canada's east coast, permitting them to fish within three miles of the Canadian shore.

U.S., Canada, Japan

Scientists Discuss Fish Pact

NANAIMO — Twenty-four scientists from the United States, Canada and Japan have started a series of discussions that will end with the annual meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission in Vancouver Nov. 7.

The scientists will present to the annual meeting problems dealing with herring, salmon and halibut fishing.

The terms of the North Pacific Fisheries Treaty under which Japan agrees not to fish in North American territorial waters and Canada and the U.S. agree to practice scientific methods will be discussed at the pre-commission meetings.

Some 60 scientists and commission members will meet at Harrison Hot Springs starting Oct. 24 to decide on a permanent line at which North American and Asiatic species of herring, salmon and halibut meet on a commercially marketable and equitable basis.

A temporary line has been established 2,000 miles west of Vancouver.

Civil Servants Blackmailed Says B.C. Labor Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—B.C.'s civil servants were blackmailed by the government into leaving the B.C. Federation of Labor, its secretary charged Tuesday.

"This is simply a question of the government blackmailing and threatening these workers into accepting their dictates," said Pat O'Neil.

The government cancelled payroll deduction of union dues after the B.C. Government Employees' Association did not disaffiliate with the federation at its convention this month. The federation is committed to support the new CCF-labor party.

The association executive Monday suspended affiliation and called a vote on whether to make the break final.

Mr. O'Neal said servants had been denied collective bargaining rights, picketing rights and now the right of free association.

"I suspect this may be part of a payoff to the Federation of Trade and Industry and their friends in the corporations," he said.

He said employers in industry may be encouraged to emulate the government.

Road Costs

B.C. Will Pay —So Will Saanich

Provincial highways department has agreed to pay a proportion of the cost of future work on Quadra in the Saanich municipality—and it will make Saanich pay a share of the cost on Gorge Road.

An order-in-council classifies both Quadra Street, running from the Victoria-Saanich boundary through to the Patricia Bay intersection, and Gorge Road from Harriet through to Craigflower Bridge, as secondary highways.

The municipality asked the government to class the 3.20 miles of Quadra as a secondary highway because it means that the province will pay 40 per cent of all maintenance costs and 50 per cent of all approved reconstruction costs in the future.

But the 1.70 miles on the Gorge is a horse of a different color. Up to now the entire responsibility for the road has been the provincial government's.

Now Saanich will have to pay 60 per cent of the maintenance costs and 50 per cent of any approved reconstruction costs.

Helping Hand Ready To Assist Indians

Prof. C. S. Burchill, president of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, said last night the group is preparing to lend assistance to members of Vancouver Island bands who face unemployment this winter.

But he pointed out that the answer to the Indian problem doesn't lie in handing out relief year after year, and the solution will be found only when income-producing businesses are set up in their areas.

"The white man who finds himself in a depressed area can move fairly freely," Prof. Burchill said. "Once the Indian leaves the reserve, however, he loses pretty well his only assurance of support."

Anyone wishing to make a cash donation should address it to the chairman of the society's relief committee H. F. T. Gillan, 2931 Ilene Terrace. Gifts of clothing should be sent to Friends Meeting House, 1831 Fern.

Paton Urges Weapon

Boycott Oil, Gold, Ships To Wipe Out Apartheid

TORONTO (CP) — An effective boycott of the South African economy is the best weapon against the government's apartheid policy, author Alan Paton said Tuesday.

"Other governments can bring this regime to its knees," said Mr. Paton, author of Cry, The Beloved Country and leader of South Africa's Liberal party.

"They can do it three ways. First, they can stop shipment of oil to South Africa. They can refuse to buy our gold and they can refuse to handle shipping," he said.

Individual opposition to the white supremacy policies of the government can only be largely ineffective, Mr. Paton said.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats . . . actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats . . . for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Remember, Carter's not only relieve irregularity, but actually improve the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Nobody Would Listen to Him

Child Leads Rescuers To Pal's Body in Well

Little Boy Revived By Father

CHEMAINUS — A two-year-old child led searchers to an old, water-filled well yesterday where the unconscious body of his playmate was floating.

More than 15 minutes earlier he had tried to warn grown-ups of the accident but could not make himself understood.

Revived after being unconscious more than 15 minutes was Keith Hess, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Hess, North Chemainus Highway, who was partially revived by his father with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

GOOD CONDITION

He is in good condition at Chemainus Hospital.

His pal, Carl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Allester, had returned home about noon to tell his mother that Keith was in the creek and all wet.

She didn't pay any attention to him until Keith didn't answer to his mother's call. "Then it dawned on me what might have happened so we rushed to the creek, she said. "There was no water in it so we called Carl and he took us to the well."

WATER AT TOP

Mrs. Allester said the water was at the top of the well and all she had to do was pull the unconscious boy out. He had been in it at least 15 minutes.

Partial breathing was restored and Keith had started to tremble when oxygen equipment was brought by the Chemainus fire department.

He evidently pushed aside a cover over the deserted well on the property of George Robinson, another neighbor. "I could hardly lift it to put it back. I don't know how a three-year-old boy could move it," said Mrs. Allester.

QUICK RESPONSE

Reeve Donald Morton, near the firehall when the fire department answered the call, gave the volunteers "credit for very quick response to the alarm."

Cuba Splitting U.S., Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is expected to impose strong economic sanctions against Cuba's Castro regime within the next 24 hours.

The move is certain to open a new Canadian-American rift because of Canada's unwillingness to join with its North American neighbor in the action.

Lurking in the background is the continually controversial question of American subsidiary companies operating in this country and their reaction to the differing national policies.

Official sources said economic relations with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's government were the subject of "continuing discussions" between Washington and Ottawa. But they discounted reports that it had reached the stage of a dispute.

A U.S. embargo on Cuban trade would lose much of its effectiveness if the needed machinery and parts of American specification were available to Castro through Canada. With this in mind, it was learned, the U.S. government has asked Canada's co-operation

Canada's answer was made clear several days ago in a comment by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that Canada had "no intention whatsoever" of placing an embargo on Cuban trade.

Observers believe the government's refusal to join the United States in Cuban sanctions will result in pressure on U.S. subsidiaries through their parent companies to adhere to American policy anyway.

Education Report On Way

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of B.C. said Tuesday his report on education in British Columbia will be in the hands of the government next week.

He said the 800-page report will recommend an extensive revamping of the educational system in the province.

He said it is up to the government when the report will be made public.

Vancouver Pay Higher

Victoria Wages Soar Ahead of Living Cost

Average wages for some Greater Victoria jobs in the past four years increased as much as five times more than the rise in the cost of living, a B.C. government report shows.

Nevertheless, in almost every case, a worker in Victoria is paid less than his Vancouver counterpart.

ANNUAL SURVEY

The information is contained in the annual wage and salary rate survey of the bureau of economics and statistics and covers the average wages for 33 selected occupations from junior clerk to janitor. The survey covered 661 B.C. firms with 90,000 employees.

Between July, 1956, and July of this year heavy equipment operators saw their wages increase by a whopping 38.9 per cent in Victoria. Lowest increase in average salaries during the same period was the 9.5 per cent received by light truck drivers.

PRICE INDEX

The bureau said the consumers' price index, generally taken as the cost of living, during this period rose by about 7 per cent.

Percentage increases for some occupations: junior clerk-typist, 14 per cent; senior clerk-typist, 16.7 per cent; junior stenographer, 20.9 per cent; stenographer, 19.7 per cent; bookkeeper, 13.4 per cent; telephone operator, 22.4 per cent.

OTHER FIGURES

Draughtsman, 9.8 per cent; janitor, 14.4 per cent; medium truck driver, 26.1 per cent; car mechanic, 28.2 per cent; carpenter, 31.7 per cent; labor foreman, 25.5 per cent.

Worst off is a draughtsman in training. Average wage in Victoria is $175 a month, in Vancouver $301.

Scarlet Fever Cases Doubled in Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The incidence of scarlet fever and "strep" throat more than doubled in Canada last year. There were more cases than in any year since 1924, when national records first were kept.

The bureau of statistics list showed 22,607 cases of the disease, an increase of 103.3 per cent from 1958.

Worst Fire Since Blitz

MANCHESTER (Reuters) —One of the worst fires since the wartime blitz roared through a warehouse in the heart of this northern England industrial city early today.

The fire sent flames shooting 100 feet high from the six-storey, 300-foot-long building filled with furniture and cotton goods.

The fire could be seen 10 miles away.

Mother's Signal

Eye Sign Foils Kidnap Plot

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped baby foiled the abductor's ransom scheme Tuesday by sending out a distress signal with her eyes, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

This is the story the FBI told:

James Reinhardt, 24, a friend of Mrs. Betty Utterback, a widow, went to the Utterback home and left with her 21-months old daughter, saying he was taking the child on a shopping trip.

Fifteen minutes later Reinhardt returned without the baby and told Mrs. Utterback he wanted $8,500 for her return.

Reinhardt forced Mrs. Utterback to accompany him to her bank and stood near her as she started to make a withdrawal, the FBI said.

"She gave me a sign with her eyes that something was wrong," said bank operations officer Barney L. Kotrbe.

Kotrbe gave a sign to another employee, who called the FBI.

Kotrbe said he stalled as long as he could, then gave Mrs. Utterback a bag containing $8,500.

FBI agents entered as Reinhardt and the woman were leaving. Reinhardt was seized; the child was recovered safely.

Civil Defence Rally

Mayors, Reeves Doze As Lecturer Drones

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Mayor L. A. Read said Monday night a recent Western conference on civil defence in Edmonton was so boring that mayors and reeves attending had a hard time staying awake.

The mayor told city council that because of untrained lecturers the 80 municipal leaders gained little from the conference.

British Columbia delegates were so disturbed they held a caucus and Reeve Allan Emmott of Burnaby was appointed to express the group's dissatisfaction.

Mayor Read said the lectures lasted 3½ days and the meeting "became for most of us very boring."

"One cause was that these lecturers had not been trained. They were army or air force or navy personnel who had been retired and put into these jobs."

Without criticizing the speakers' enthusiasm and depth of knowledge, he felt they could have been a little more "magnetic."

China Entry In B.C. Fair?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the British Columbia 1961 International Trade Fair said Tuesday Communist China will probably be asked to exhibit.

William J. Borrie said, "I don't see why we should neglect such a large market. We may look back in a couple of months and regret it."

Blamed for Divorce Rate

Love and Honor But No Obey

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice L. A. Landreville of the Supreme Court of Ontario Monday night attributed the high divorce rate in North America to the dropping of the word "obey" from some marriage ceremonies. He said men are faced with the choice of being family tyrants or family mops.

Speaking to Toronto Board of Trade, Mr. Justice Landreville said:

"In the vast majority of divorces it's the man's fault. From the Orient to Holland the man dominates and rules. But here the dropping of the obey has made it a 50-50 partnership.

"All is well when the husband and wife agree, but the emancipation of women being what it is means that the wife at times has opinions that differ from her man.

"Then it's a tie and there's no one to settle it. First comes tension, then a cold war and shifting of affections. Then comes estrangement and finally two or three years later—divorce."

To State Medicine

Onus Put on Doctors To Provide Option

REGINA (CP) — General secretary Dr. A. D. Kelly of the Canadian Medical Association said Tuesday the medical profession must be prepared to offer a solution to state medicine.

★ ★ ★

In an attack on the Saskatchewan CCF government's prepaid compulsory medical plan, to be in operation early in 1962, Dr. Kelly told the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons convention compulsory, tax-supported programs are neither necessary or desirable.

Dr. Kelly said doctors must propose an acceptable alternative to compulsory medical care plans that will do justice to the needs of the people and allow doctors to work harmoniously and in co-operation.

He said the Saskatchewan college is working on an alternative proposal to present to the government.

"It's not for me to spell out the details of this proposal but I assure you it is under very serious study."

Dag Fights Budget Slice

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) —Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold struck back Tuesday at Russia's attempt to cut the UN budget. He said the Soviet move would rob the UN of "its possibilities of action in the preservation of peace."

Hammarskjold's 1961 budget is $67,500,000; Russia wants a $50,000,000 ceiling.

Cuba Seeks UN Debate

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Cuba last night asked the United Nations General Assembly to take up "acts of aggression" against it by the United States.

Some Chinese Boys Too Cocky, Can't Be Trusted, Says Judge

DUNCAN—A 14-year-old Chinese boy was warned in juvenile court yesterday that he could be deported if he didn't behave.

"If you don't behave the government will send you back to China. Things aren't very good in China," warned Judge A. C. Sutton.

The youth had pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault against a woman. He was found delinquent and placed on probation for six months, with an order to stay out of the family's yard and to refrain from swearing.

"Fifty or 60 years ago the Chinese were good citizens. But some of the modern boys are a nuisance and can't be trusted. Quite a few are too cocky," said the judge.

Full Health Insurance Ontario CCF Target

LAKEFIELD, Ont. (CP)— Ontario CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald said Tuesday night a full health insurance plan for all Canadians is a major plank in the New Party's platform now being drafted for submission to the founding convention in Ottawa next summer.

He said some 50 university professors from across Canada will meet in Toronto this weekend "to do a solid job of rethinking on some of the more difficult areas of public policy" in preparation for the final draft of the New Party program.

Paper Stocks Make Gains At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials took a beating in a stock market where golds provided the only glitter.

Steels, utilities and assorted favorites were responsible for the weakness among industrials, while papers and banks closed on the up-side.

Ford of Canada reflected market sentiment with a four-point drop at 121.

Howard Smith and MacMillan, Powell led papers higher.

Golds were strong.

Western oils continued a relentless decline.

Major Oils Dip

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed lower. Trading was moderate.

Imperial Oil at 31½ declined ⅞. Steel Co. of Canada at 63½ fell ¾ and B.A. Oil esased ½ at 28¼. Losses of ⅛ were recorded by Ogilvie Flour Mills at 43⅛ and Massey-Ferguson at 8⅝.

On the winning side, Banque Canadienne Nationale gained 1¾ at 51¾ and Bank of Montreal at 53¾ added ¾.

In mines, International Nickel fell ¾ at 47⅝ and Noranda eased ⅛ at 39. Dome gained ⅝ at 23 and Aluminium at 29⅝ rose ⅛.

Blue Chips Sag

NEW YORK (AP)—Sagging blue chips dragged the stock market down to a fairly sharp loss in quiet trading.

The broad decline took in steels, autos, rails, rubbers, electronics, nonferrous metals, electrical equipments.

Most active was Shattuck which rose ⅝ to 19⅞ on 39,300 shares.

Among active gainers were Monsanto, up 1, and Hafi, up 1⅜.

Westinghouse Electric reported lower third-quarter earnings despite higher billings and the stock fell a point.

MacMillan Rises

VANCOUVER—Most industrials were easier but MacMillan, Powell rose to $14½ and B.C. Power to $32½. Western Plywood at $9½, Consolidated Mining at $17⅝ and Cold Lake at 3.15 were lower.

Mines were dull with Kopan slipping 3 cents to .31.

Fort St. John was 1.00 and United 1.14 among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — Unsettled conditions reflected current uncertainties in the consumer and durable goods trades and fading hopes of an early relaxation in the credit squeeze.

Some leading industrials rallied after losing ground earlier in the session, but the general appearance was irregular.

Gilt-edged securities resumed their advance after a hesitant opening but dollar stocks were down.

Gold shares were steadier; coppers were quiet and undecided but tin shares eased.

Oils opened dull, then rallied.

Financial Times index 322.2, off .5.

Montreal Bonds

MONTREAL — The bond market weakened shortly after the opening and some government long-terms dropped about half a point. Later there was some support for the market but prices closed slightly lower on balance.

Grain Market

WINNIPEG (CP)—Export demand for Canadian flax and feed commodities was quiet, as most prices followed a hesitant trend.

Flax trade appeared moderate with some buying for United States accounts.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains were steady to easier in the futures market.

Pipeline Issue Sparks Scramble for Stocks

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

★ ★ ★

First 'Rush' In Years

Stockbroking firms in the west had their busiest day of the year yesterday as the public frantically scrambled to get in on the ground floor in the new natural gas pipeline to California.

Business could have been excellent, if only there had been enough shares to meet all demands, but the number of common shares in Alberta Natural Gas Co. and Pacific Gas Transmission Co. offered in Canada were less than 750,000 all told, and this meant brokers had to disappoint many of their would-be customers.

Some firms set a maximum of 50 shares in either company to an individual, but in most cases the allotments were much smaller, thus giving the widest possible distribution.

The shares of Alberta Natural Gas (which will construct a big-inch pipeline on this side of the international border) were sold at $10.50, and those of Pacific Gas Transmission (which will build the line from Canada to the California Bay area) sold at $9.47 a share.

The public interest in the new issues was such as to send the shares up to a premium of over four points in secondary trading.

The issues were distributed primarily to residents in Alberta and British Columbia.

It was the first time in almost two years that the public has found a stock offering that really "tickled the palate."

GOOD BUT BAD

Sales of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. for the first nine months of 1960 were a record, but president G. H. Gallaway is not satisfied. He reports business in the third quarter declined and this level is likely to persist in the fourth quarter, with a lower demand and price for plywood and lumber.

Net income for Crown Zellerbach Canada to Sept. 30 was $6,800,000 compared with $5,100,000 a year ago, but Mr. Gallaway notes that in 1959 the industry was beset with a logging strike in the third quarter while this year the results of two subsidiaries were included for the first time.

Dollar sales were $80,900,000, up 16.7 per cent from a year ago.

STORE PROFITS HIGH

Net profits of Dominion Stores are running considerably higher than a year ago. Earnings for the six months ended Sept. 17, 1960, were $3,625,880 ($2.25 a share) against $2,717,253 ($1.68) for the corresponding period in 1959.

REAL ANTIQUE

British Columbia is well represented on the Canadian Timber Trade Mission at present in Britain with R. H. Edgett, Seaboard Lumber Sales, as deputy spokesman for the group and with Douglas St. G. Anderson representing MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River and Robert G. Annable representing East Asiatic Co., all of Vancouver.

The department of trade and commerce at Ottawa, which has sponsored the mission, has put out an introductory brochure about the mission, and it seems unfortunate that so fine a piece of printing should contain two pictures of the B.C. forest scene that seem "period" pieces, and give a false impression that our industry is primitive.

One shows some lumberjacks in a hemlock grove, dressed in garb and using equipment that appear to belong to the early 1900s, and the other a picture of an outdated steam locie, belching smoke and carrying a load of timber over a wooden trestle.

CITY SELLS SERIALS

The City of Vancouver has sold $3,530,000 of 5¼ per cent and 5½ per cent serial debentures. The 5¼ per cent serials of 1960-1965 have been sold privately, while $260,000 maturing 1966-70 are being offered at 98.39 to yield 5.5 per cent.

Also offered are $2,215,000 5½ per cent serials dated from Nov. 15, 1971 to 1980. The average price of the offering is 99 to yield 5.6 per cent. The bonds are non-callable.

The City of Saskatoon has also sold $1,431,000 in 5¼ per cent serials and 5½ per cent sinking fund debentures to mature 1980.

GAS MOVED IN

The distribution and sale of Canadian natural gas began in two cities in North Dakota and Minnesota this week, and other communities in the Red River valley will be hooked up with the new energy within the next week or two.

First cities to be served were Moorhead, Minn. and Fargo, North Dakota.

The gas is being moved into the U.S. at Emerson through the Trans-Canada pipeline system, and the operation has started ahead of schedule.

An address on business systems will be given in the Pacific Club, this evening by Eric Van Allan of Vancouver to the Victoria chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants.

British Oppose Car Price Hike

LONDON (CP) — British car manufacturers are going to fight for a reversal of a Canadian decision that will have the effect of making their vehicles more expensive in Canada.

"We're not going to take the Canadian move lying down," said Geoffrey Rootes, president of the British Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders and a director of the Rootes group.

In an interview during the preview to the 1960 Motor Show, Rootes said the society plans to put the British case strongly before the royal commission set up to recommend measures to be taken by both the Canadian government and the car industry to increase production.

Last week it was reported from Ottawa that the price of imported British and foreign cars will increase Dec. 1 as a result of a decision of the revenue department to revise the valuation of imports.

The Ottawa decision comes at a time when both British and European manufacturers are being forced to curtail production because of the uncertainty of future markets.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A small black dog with white paws comes trotting among the children playing in the school yard.

Some children stop him and pat his head. He stays with them for a few seconds, to acknowledge the greeting, but anyone can see that he is only being polite. He is looking for someone.

School has been out for only a few minutes. Some children are on their way home. Others are scattered in groups, playing tag, or throwing a ball or skipping a rope.

The dog threads his way purposefully from one group to another, sniffing at each child in turn.

Then he lowers his nose and follows an invisible trail on the ground, looping and twirling around in several directions.

Perhaps he has picked up the trail of his particular child.

One in Hundreds

There is a difficult job for the sharpest nostrils—to follow one child's track in all the hundreds that weave around a schoolyard. You might as well try to single one gnat out of a swarm and trace it.

The dog soon loses the track in the welter of alien smells, and returns to his former method of sniffing each child in turn.

Somewhere in that throng is one child who has just the right blend of smells about him—the compound smell of home. It may be a blend of and a certain kind of soap.

If dogs could talk, they wouldn't have much to say, because human languages have only a meagre vocabulary of smell-words. There are only a few crude words to express an infinite number of shades and combinations of smell.

If evolution had taken a different turn, and the world had produced highly intelligent and sophisticated dogs, they would probably have smell galleries as humans have art galleries and libraries now.

Embalm Smells

Clever canine artists would find a way to blend and embalm smells in such a way as to produce a special effect on the nose and the feelings.

The smell galleries would conjure up the whole world of doggy experience. There would be smells of pheasant, old bone, warm wood fire and master's tobacco pipe. There would be classical smells and abstract smells.

But the dog in the schoolyard has no way of telling anyone what mixture of smells he was looking for, to identify his child. So he rambled on through the crowds of children, sampling the cuffs and shoes of all of them in turn.

Evidently he came to school every day about this time, to meet the child. Today, however, he failed. The child must have gone home early. The dog bustled out of the schoolyard, down an alley and back again, and then set off busily along the street, with the same purposeful air, as if he knew exactly where he was going.

Your Good Health

Surest TB Test Is Chest X-Ray

By Joseph G. Molner, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: What about the tuberculosis tests given in the schools? Do they tell if a child has the germ or not?—H.M.L."

* * *

"Dear Doctor: What is the difference between active and inactive TB? They say inactive TB isn't catching. Does it still go through the lungs like active TB?—Mrs. M.S."

* * *

Most or all of us come in contact with the tuberculosis germ, casually on the street or in school or somewhere, but tuberculosis is not likely to develop swiftly after a single exposure. Repeated exposures may build up enough total effect until one exposure finally develops the disease itself—a case of the germ that broke the camel's back, if you like.

Very modest exposure is sufficient to cause a skin test to show there has been contact with the germ.

If the skin test is positive, some further inquiry is needed. Fever, cough, fatigue and night sweats are among the symptoms which may or may not mean TB. The surer test is a chest X-ray, which will detect even early tuberculosis in both children and adults.

We may stop the spread of TB and the multiplication of germs. The patient's sputum, in this "inactive" phase, no longer sprays TB germs as he breathes, coughs or sneezes. So he is no longer a peril to those around him.

But some of the germs may be lying more or less dormant, perhaps sealed off by scar tissue, in the lung. "Inactive" TB doesn't "spread through the lungs," nor is it catching. But we do like to make periodic examination of former patients just to be sure that the inactive TB isn't becoming active again.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Isn't it harmful for a person with arthritis and degeneration of the joints to spend a lot of time outdoors in the sun?—Mrs. A.L."

* * *

No, indeed. In fact, the heat and ultra-violet from the sun may ease some of the discomfort.

Note to Mrs. L. M.: While I have expressed myself in opposition to any needless use of X-ray or fluoroscopes, you needn't worry about them for reasonable health examinations.

Drive Starts Today

43,000 Homes Target of Chest

Fifteen hundred Community Chest canvassers will start today to call at 43,000 homes in the Greater Victoria area — from Sooke to Sidney — seeking donations which they hope will add up to more than $65,000.

"We realize that a lot of people will have given at their places of employment," a Chest official said yesterday, "but we hope the home-makers in these cases will want to do something too as their share in the community responsibility, and lots of little bits, we hope, will add up to a big bit for the Chest and its 22 agencies."

The residential campaign is expected to take three days, apart from "callbacks" where residents are out when canvassers call. The callbacks are expected to take until the end of the month.

Mrs. J. Beattie McLean, residential canvass chairman, has asked that the volunteer canvassers be treated with courtesy. The number of volunteers ready to help the Chest this year, executive secretary A. G. Gilmore said, "is very pleasing. We are all quite impressed with the friends the Chest has."

Donations received at Chest headquarters up to last night totalled $79,674.

Launderette

Trial Begins

Trial of Grant Shaver, no fixed address, on a charge of breaking, entering and theft last July 12 at the Sparkle-Bright Launderette, 2584 Quadra, opened before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane and a 12-man jury in Assize Court yesterday.

First witness was Edward Warburton, owner of a bakery diagonally across the corner from the launderette, who told of arriving at his shop at 3.55 a.m. July 12 and seeing three men on the sidewalk near the launderette.

He watched, from his car and then from the dark interior of his store, and saw two men enter the launderette while the third stayed outside. For a brief time the men inside were out of his view, then he saw them open a coin cigaret machine near the window.

He knew this machine could only be opened by a key, so he telephoned police.

Winter Jobs Planned

Hard-Hit Indians May Find Work

A series of winter work projects designed specifically to help serious unemployment on Indian reserves—including those in the hard-hit west coast section of Vancouver Island — are being planned for the coming months.

A spokesman for the Indian affairs department in Vancouver said yesterday for a start the winter works projects will be initiated by the department to provide as many jobs as possible right away. But later projects will be worked out in co-operation with various band councils.

REASONABLE PLAN

"We would consider any reasonable project that the councils come forward with," said the official. He said a survey of suitable projects was started by the department last summer and the scheme is expected to be working before the end of this year.

The spokesman said winter work projects on the reserves will cover clean-up of villages, tearing down of useless buildings, laying plank sidewalks, clearing brush from roads, waterworks, cutting wood fuel for indigents, and building roadside fences.

Money from band funds would be used to pay the same percentage of costs as municipalities under the cost-sharing plan with provincial and federal authorities.

Chiefs and councilmen of Vancouver Island Indian bands said hundreds of their people face starvation unless employment is provided for them during the winter months. They blamed a poor fishing season and commercial fishing restrictions during the winter.

$20,000

Officials said yesterday approval is expected shortly of winter works projects totalling $20,000 for labor and materials on the Cowichan, East Saanich, Qualicum and Shell Beach reserves.

In addition, $18,000 worth of housing construction will be carried out during the winter on the Cowichan reserve as part of the Duncan area winter works program.

There will also be a new ferry float built on Kuper Island.

Tummy turmoil on eat-and-run days?

Probably—but you don't have to suffer heartburn or acid indigestion! Not when you keep TUMS handy. Just eat one or two of these mild, minty tablets —no water or glass needed— and get fast relief from stomach discomfort. No after-taste with TUMS. Take TUMS any time, any place. Carry a roll in your purse or pocket. And TUMS cost so little.

Hillman is the one and only imported car selling for less than $2250 to offer Canadians fully automatic transmission in a 4-door sedan. Here is real luxury in a low-price car! There is no slip, no loss of power and no sacrifice of fuel economy . . . still up to 35 miles to the gallon. Hillman with fully automatic transmission operates with as low gas consumption as conventional stick shift models.

With Hillman's automatic transmission, your driving habits can be the same as what you're used to now . . . no clutch pedal, no gear shifting. And Hillman is so easy to handle, on the highway or in the parking lot. Test drive the new Hillman with fully automatic transmission . . . a standout in its class. Experience for yourself the touch-and-go vitality of this fabulous Hillman for 1961.

Hillman Three-way Convertible available with fully automatic transmission

Hillman 4 Door Station Wagon available with fully automatic transmission (white walls optional extra)

Paper Stocks Make Gains At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials took a beating in a stock market where golds provided the only glitter.

Steels, utilities and assorted favorites were responsible for the weakness among industrials, while papers and banks closed on the up-side.

Ford of Canada reflected market sentiment with a four-point drop at 121.

Howard Smith and MacMillan, Powell led papers higher.

Golds were strong.

Western oils continued a relentless decline.

Major Oils Dip

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges closed lower. Trading was moderate.

Imperial Oil at 31½ declined ⅞. Steel Co. of Canada at 63½ fell ¾ and B.A. Oil esased ½ at 28¼. Losses of ⅛ were recorded by Ogilvie Flour Mills at 43⅛ and Massey-Ferguson at 8⅝.

On the winning side, Banque Canadienne Nationale gained 1¾ at 51¾ and Bank of Montreal at 53¾ added ⅜.

In mines, International Nickel fell ¾ at 47⅝ and Noranda eased ⅛ at 39. Dome gained ⅝ at 23 and Aluminium at 29⅝ rose ¼.

Blue Chips Sag

NEW YORK (AP)—Sagging blue chips dragged the stock market down to a fairly sharp loss in quiet trading.

The broad decline took in steels, autos, rails, rubbers, electronics, nonferrous metals, electrical equipments.

Most active was Shattuck which rose ⅝ to 19⅞ on 39,300 shares.

Among active gainers were Monsanto, up 1, and Hafi, up 1⅝.

Westinghouse Electric reported lower third-quarter earnings despite higher billings and the stock fell a point.

MacMillan Rises

VANCOUVER—Most industrials were easier but MacMillan, Powell rose to $14½ and B.C. Power to $32½. Western Plywood at $9½, Consolidated Mining at $17⅝ and Cold Lake at 3.15 were lower.

Mines were dull with Kopan slipping 3 cents to .31.

Fort St. John was 1.00 and United 1.14 among oils.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — Unsettled conditions reflected current uncertainties in the consumer and durable goods trades and fading hopes of an early relaxation in the credit squeeze.

Some leading industrials rallied after losing ground earlier in the session, but the general appearance was irregular.

Gilt-edged securities resumed their advance after a hesitant opening but dollar stocks were down.

Gold shares were steadier; coppers were quiet and undecided but tin shares eased.

Oils opened dull, then rallied.

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains were steady to easier in the futures market.

A pickup in export demanded prompt buying of wheat futures around the close, although volume was not heavy. Profit-taking and liquidation by longs tended to balance the trade, with price changes amounting to small fractions.

Pipeline Issue Sparks Scramble for Stocks

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Stockbroking firms in the west had their busiest day of the year yesterday as the public frantically scrambled to get in on the ground floor in the new natural gas pipeline to California.

Business could have been excellent, if only there had been enough shares to meet all demands, but the number of common shares in Alberta Natural Gas Co. and Pacific Gas Transmission Co. offered in Canada were less than 750,000 all told, and this meant brokers had to disappoint many of their would-be customers.

Some firms set a maximum of 50 shares in either company to an individual, but in most cases the allotments were much smaller, thus giving the widest possible distribution.

The shares of Alberta Natural Gas (which will construct a big-inch pipeline on this side of the international border) were sold at $10.50, and those of Pacific Gas Transmission (which will build the line from Canada to the California Bay area) sold at $9.47 a share.

The public interest in the new issues was such as to send the shares up to a premium of over four points in secondary trading.

The issues were distributed primarily to residents in Alberta and British Columbia.

It was the first time in almost two years that the public has found a stock offering that really "tickled the palate."

First 'Rush' In Years

GOOD BUT BAD

Sales of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. for the first nine months of 1960 were a record, but president G. H. Gallaway is not satisfied. He reports business in the third quarter declined and this level is likely to persist in the fourth quarter, with a lower demand and price for plywood and lumber.

Net income for Crown Zellerbach Canada to Sept. 30 was $6,800,000 compared with $5,100,000 a year ago, but Mr. Gallaway notes that in 1959 the industry was beset with a logging strike in the third quarter while this year the results of two subsidiaries were included for the first time.

Dollar sales were $80,900,000, up 16.7 per cent from a year ago.

★ ★ ★

STORE PROFITS HIGH

Net profits of Dominion Stores are running considerably higher than a year ago. Earnings for the six months ended Sept. 17, 1960, were $3,625,880 ($2.25 a share) against $2,717,253 ($1.68) for the corresponding period in 1959.

REAL ANTIQUE

British Columbia is well represented on the Canadian Timber Trade Mission at present in Britain with R. H. Edgett, Seaboard Lumber Sales, as deputy spokesman for the group and with Douglas St. G. Anderson representing MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River and Robert G. Annable representing East Asiatic Co., all of Vancouver.

The department of trade and commerce at Ottawa, which has sponsored the mission, has put out an introductory brochure about the mission, and it seems unfortunate that so fine a piece of printing should contain two pictures of the B.C. forest scene that seem "period" pieces, and give a false impression that our industry is primitive.

One shows some lumberjacks in a hemlock grove, dressed in garb and using equipment that appear to belong to the early 1900s, and the other a picture of an outdated steam locie, belching smoke and carrying a load of timber over a wooden trestle.

CITY SELLS SERIALS

The City of Vancouver has sold $3,530,000 of 5¼ per cent and 5½ per cent serial debentures. The 5¼ per cent serials of 1960-1965 have been sold privately, while $260,000 maturing 1966-70 are being offered at 98.39 to yield 5.5 per cent.

Also offered are $2,215,000 5½ per cent serials dated from Nov. 15, 1971 to 1980. The average price of the offering is 99 to yield 5.6 per cent. The bonds are non-callable.

The City of Saskatoon has also sold $1,431,000 in 5¼ per cent serials and 5½ per cent sinking fund debentures to mature 1980.

GAS MOVED IN

The distribution and sale of Canadian natural gas began in two cities in North Dakota and Minnesota this week, and other communities in the Red River valley will be hooked up with the new energy within the next week or two.

First cities to be served were Moorhead, Minn. and Fargo, North Dakota.

The gas is being moved into the U.S. at Emerson through the Trans-Canada pipeline system, and the operation has started ahead of schedule.

British Oppose Car Price Hike

LONDON (CP) — British car manufacturers are going to fight for a reversal of a Canadian decision that will have the effect of making their vehicles more expensive in Canada.

"We're not going to take the Canadian move lying down," said Geoffrey Rootes, president of the British Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders and a director of the Rootes group.

In an interview during the preview to the 1960 Motor Show, Rootes said the society plans to put the British case strongly before the royal commission set up to recommend measures to be taken by both the Canadian government and the car industry to increase production.

Last week it was reported from Ottawa that the price of imported British and foreign cars will increase Dec. 1 as a result of a decision of the revenue department to revise the valuation of imports.

The Ottawa decision comes at a time when both British and European manufacturers are being forced to curtail production because of the uncertainty of future markets.

Educate, Not Ban, Board's Decision on Raw Milk

Strongly opposed to consumption of raw milk, the Victoria-Esquimalt health board nevertheless has decided not to press for prohibition of its sale.

"There's no question that banning it would be very desirable," Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt said at a board meeting yesterday. "On the other hand, Canadians have a trait inherent in all of us: we don't like compulsion.

"The board of health is on record, and wisely so, as endorsing bylaws to allow sale only of pasteurized milk, but that's not acceptable to our councils. It's as simple as that."

Best the board can do, he suggested — and other members agreed — is to "try to educate the public so the small minority now using raw milk will eventually see the benefits of pasteurized milk and the damage raw milk can do."

Raw milk, he said, can carry Richard Reeve, chairman, "But such diseases as rheumatic fever, osteomylelitis and scarlet fever as well as undulant fever and tuberculosis.

"It's said that only 2 per cent of the milk consumed is raw milk," said school trustee If only 2 per cent of the people contracted one of these diseases, we'd be in trouble."

"It's not the 2 per cent I'm worried about," said Coun. Sammon. "One-quarter of 1 per cent can acquire them, and transmit them to the people drinking pasteurized milk."

Fire Attracts Crowd

Crowd gathers to watch firemen fight a fire that heavily damaged two houses at May and Moss Streets yesterday.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Went Back for Belongings

Elderly Roomer Led from Flames

An elderly man who tried to enter a blazing two-storey frame house to save his belongings was rescued yesterday by a passerby when a sheet of flame stopped him from reaching his room on the second floor.

Mortimer W. Hames, 84, of 1325 May Street was led to safety by Percy South, 241 Beechwood.

After firemen had extinguished the blaze, police reccvered most of Mr. Hames' belongings, including a wallet containing $27 in cash.

Mr. Hames said he noticed smoke coming through the window of his room at 3.30 p.m.

"I ran downstairs and shouted for someone to call the fire department," he said, "I don't understand how these phones work.

Mr. South was on his way home from work and had just let out a passenger when he saw the fire. He and three unidentified men ran into the house and looked in all the rooms to make sure no one was trapped.

"After we'd searched the house, the old man started up the stairs," Mr. South said. "I told him he'd better come back and led him down."

Unaware that his belongings would be recovered, Mr. Hames stood in shirtsleeves in a neighbor's home.

"All I've got is what I stand up in," he said.

He had no insurance on his things.

Firemen said the blaze may have been started by children in a shed of an abandoned house adjoining 1325 May. It was also heavily damaged. The shed was totally demolished.

Other occupants of the rooming house were out at the time of the blaze.

George Simmons, 80, was visiting his son. Joseph Toth was at work at the experimental farm at Saanichton.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Meagher, the downstairs occupants, lost most of their belongings in the blaze. They had no insurance.

The house is insured and is owned by Mrs. Gladys Mason of Vancouver.

Mr. Hames was taken to a rest home at 1739 Hollywood. Mrs. Meagher and Mr. Simmons will spend the night with relatives. Mr. Toth planned to spend the night in his room at the house, "as a sort of a watchman."

B.C. Probe Asked Into City Business

ALBERNI—A stormy session of Alberni council included an announcement by Mayor Mabel Anderson that she would call for a department of municipal affairs investigation of the city's business.

During the 2¾ hours of the meeting, the mayor was officially censured by vote of council for writing a statement into the minutes of the previous meeting as she affixed her signature. She was three times overruled when she refused to put motions made by the aldermen. She was opposed by her council when she insisted that she had a right to make motions from the chair. She was taken to task by veteran Ald. C. M. Blair for what he claimed was a continuing attitude of "protecting the taxpayers from the aldermen."

RESOLUTIONS RETURNED

Mayor Anderson returned two resolutions passed at the Oct. 3 meeting, then denied that council had the right to re-affirm the motions without first rescinding them.

It was during a heated debate on the first resolution returned for reconsideration that Mayor Anderson made a motion from the chair that a letter be written to ask an investigation of the city's affairs by government officials. When members of the council argued that a motion from the chair was out of order, she continued to call for a seconder and, not receiving it, said that she would herself ask for the investigation.

BRIDGE PROJECT

Re-affirmed by the council was the resolution of Oct. 3 which appointed Ald. George Dunbar and Ald. Russell Foxcroft as a committee to negotiate the possible purchase price for a portion of land, 1/700 of an acre, in connection with the proposed Kitsuksis Creek bridge at Gertrude Street.

The mayor took Aldermen Dunbar and Foxcroft to task for meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gibson, owners of the tiny piece of property, on Oct. 9. She declared that she had returned the resolution for reconsideration on Oct. 5. Several alderman pointed out to the mayor that there had been no meeting of the council between Oct. 3 and Oct. 17 and that therefore the resolution could not be returned in the interim.

SUNDAY DISCUSSION

She further criticized the members of the committee for discussing city business on a Sunday and reported that she had been informed that the owners had been offered $50 for the property by the committee. Ald. Dunbar said, "We did not transact any business. We did not commit council to anything. We merely suggested that the property was worth about $50."

PROPOSED MOTION

When the mayor failed in her attempt to have rescinded the resolution appointing the committee she proposed a motion that all action on the project cease and a department of municipal affairs investigation into city projects be called for. Although Ald. Fred Bishop offered to second her motion if she would relinguish the chair to make it, Mayor Anderson refused to do so and insisted that she had the right to make motions from the chair.

ATTEMPTING TO STALL

The meeting was punctuated by the mayor's requests to aldermen to act like gentlemen and the aldermen's accusations that the mayor was attempting to stall the Gertrude Street extension project.

Cowichan Teachers

Salary Talks Open End in Deadlock

DUNCAN — Teachers and the school board opened negotiations for next year's salary contract last night and ended in a complete deadlock.

Trustees claimed that the maximum scale asked is the highest in the province for the second year in a row.

Spokesman for the Cowichan Teachers' Association admitted that the association didn't hope to get the full amount, but, said Douglas Greenwood: "It is a scale that the board should be considering."

Teachers on the SA and SB level under the new scale would get an eventual 27 per cent increase in increments over four years.

Negotiations ended without setting a new date to meet. The trustees' committee stated it could not recommend that the board should accept the new scale.

"We are thinking of the whole district when we suggest that the scale should be raised. We believe that it would help a great deal to attract qualified teachers to the district," said Mr. Greenwood. "The highest increase, we feel, is where it should be, in the secondary level where there is the shortage of qualified teachers."

Board finance chairman Trustee Wilf Peck said the 27 per cent scale increase for the top categories is a "staggering figure."

He said the present pupil cost per year is $362 of which $220 is for teacher salaries. The 124 teachers in the district, he said receive $702,000 with the highest pay of $10,359 and the lowest of $3,000.

High school teachers now average $6,500 a year and elementary teachers $4,950, he said.

Explosives-Laden Truck In Crash, Two Unhurt

CAMPBELL RIVER — Two men were lucky to escape injury yesterday when a vehicle and truck laden with explosives collided on Camp 5 Road.

The truck, which was carrying a load of dynamite to MacMillan-Bloedel camp, was driven by Pete Konkin of Ladysmith. Driver of the other vehicle was George Fearing of Willow Point.

There were no injuries but damage to the truck was estimated at $500.

PORT ALBERNI — An inquest opened here yesterday into the death of Wilhelman Johannes Bernardus Mutsaers, 34, a seaman off the MV Ambleton, who was killed when struck by a car here Monday night.

RCMP conducting the investigation said that the Dutch seaman was walking on the roadway when he was hit by a car driven by James McKinnon, 18. He died at the scene.

The accident occurred on Stamp Avenue just south of the E&N Railway where a new surface had been laid last week.

A post-morten was conducted by Dr. R. Burns and the inquest was opened by Coroner Dr. N. H. Jones. It was adjourned pending receipt of a pathologist's report.

NANAIMO — Winter works will play an important part in Nanaimo again this year with three projects already slated for the program and more to come.

Ald. Jack Parker, city representative on the winter employment committee, presented an initial report to council last night and said that there will probably be more suggestions put forward before the May 30 deadline for federal aid.

Mr. Parker said that $5,000 will be spent on completing the improvement of facilities at both Westwood Lake and Bowen Park and another $2,000 is slated for landscaping grounds adjoining the city hall and the adjacent parking lot for employees.

Ald. George Bryce pointed out that more than $90,000 was spent on winter works last year and it is hoped to meet that figure again this winter.

DUNCAN — Ronald Gordon Miles, 20, of Gordon River narrowly missed a jail term for driving without a licence.

"I'll give you one more chance," said Magistrate A. C. Sutton when he levied a $100 fine. Miles pleaded guilty in police court yesterday.

Police said the licence was suspended when his parents refused to be responsible for him. Police produced a record of two accidents, a conviction of careless driving and five liquor convictions.

Magistrate Sutton said Miles was "deliberately defying the laws of Canada."

In police court Winston K. Harvey, Honeymoon Bay, was fined $25 for speeding on the Lake Cowichan Highway Oct. 13.

Robert J. Paterson, Duncan, was fined $10 for failing to stop at a flashing red intersection light Oct. 17 on the Trans-Canada Highway. He pleaded guilty.

Doman Transport Ltd. of Duncan was fined $100 for allowing an overweight truck on the highway, and $10 for the driver failing to attach a red lantern on a long load.

ALBERNI—Remanded until this afternoon for sentence was George William Dowson, 21, charged in Alberni court with obtaining $22 by false pretences. The charge involved a cheque cashed at a local store.

NANAIMO — The secretary of the newly-formed Federation of the Unemployed has rejected a suggestion that locals of the federation be set up throughout the province. Pat O'Neal in commenting on a suggestion from the labor group in the Nanaimo-Alberni district said: "It'll be tough to set up in locals because there has to be some kind of functional body. What we're doing is setting up committees in local areas."

The Federation of the Unemployed was formed early this month by the labor federation to provide a voice for the nearly 100,000 people expected to be unemployed by mid-winter in B.C.

Mr. O'Neal said that he did hope that local committees would be set up on Vancouver Island.

NANAIMO — The city may go into the real estate business with the last 25-acre block left in the Nanaimo city limits.

Ald. Jack Parker presented the idea to city council when he pointed out it would cost the city very little to develop the necessary facilities and then Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and NHA would take over for the housing.

Ald. Parker said that the roads, curbs, lighting, sewerage and water facilities could be done bit by bit and even under the winter works project.

The 25 acres are in the upper townsite district close to the new hospital site.

But not any more, thanks to a news story.

Mr. Monk yesterday received a box of golden-reddish hair, newly-shampooed, from Mrs. Stuart Buck of Port Rowan, Ont., and offers to sell blonde hair from two women in New Jersey.

Mrs. Buck explained that she was now grey but had kept her golden locks for many years.

More Excitement at Fulford

Bad Eagle Eating Pet Cat Carries Things Too Far!

By BEA HAMILTON

FULFORD—If you live in the country you see things that are usually only read about—and sometimes it is better just to read about them.

This time, it's a bold, bad eagle. The big, majestic monster of the sky ate Frank Pyatt's cat! Right in front of his eyes and not 30 feet from his door.

"If that isn't carrying things too far, I'd like to know what is," said Frank as he told the story through the window of his mail car.

"I had read about eagles running off with lambs and small animals—and even babies, but never thought I'd see one come so close to home and steal a pet cat."

All the eagle left of the cat were the hind legs, Frank said.

Women Plan Folk Festival

NANAIMO — Plans to organize a summer folk festival were announced at Monday's meeting of the Local Council of Women by immigration convener Mrs. Janet Harrison.

She hopes to secure the co-operation of all local ethnic groups to present a festival of national dances and song.

Public Praised

'Greater Disaster Averted'

NANAIMO—Co-operation of the public during the Chinatown fire averted a far greater disaster. These were the words of praise given the Nanaimo public by Ald. William MacGregor, chairman of the fire committee of city council.

He said that the estimated loss is $50,000 but it would have been far higher if the citizens had not pitched in and helped.

"It was a community effort which knew no boundaries," Mayor Pete Maffeo said.

Brothers Meet After 55 Years

Talked for Week

* * *

'Good Kid' Now 66

DUNCAN — Two brothers were choked with emotion yesterday when asked how they felt about their reunion after being separated for half a century and by half a world.

One speaking with a broad Scottish brogue and the other with a Canadian twang with a soft Scottish undertone agreed: "We haven't stopped talking in over a week."

They were united again when Alfred Fraser, 66, of Birmingham, England, decided "it was now or never" and dropped in on William E. "Wee" Fraser, 74, a resident of Old Schoolhouse Road, south of Duncan.

FIRST MATCH

"First thing we talked about was how, in 1904, he took me to my first football match in a hansom. That was something in those days. I was just a kid, about 10, but I can remember that carriage with the horse up front and the driver in a seat above," said Alfred.

"I was working then, and, besides, you were a good kid and I wanted to take you out," said William. He was 18.

"Do you remember that you left me in the hansom while you went into a public house for a drink?" laughed Alfred.

SOCIABLE PEOPLE

Alfred, a manufacturers' agent travelling all over Europe, said he has found Canadians to be "an outstanding, sociable people."

Sales displays in stores are "the best I've ever seen," he claimed.

"At home when you buy some flowers they select a few flowers and wrap them in newspaper and give them to you," he said. "Here they let you select each bloom, put them in tissue paper in a little box and sprinkle water on them. There is quite a difference."

More Out of Work Job Funds Sought

NANAIMO—Sixty-one more men in Nanaimo are looking for work today than a month ago.

Ald. George Bryce told city council the jobless figure stood at 639 men at the latest count compared with 578 a month ago.

Ald. Jack Parker, city representative on the winter works program, said his committee has asked for more than $15,000 in projects to begin immediately in hope of improving the situation.

Four Complaints–That's All Over Rezoning in Nanaimo

Mayor Delays Final Reading

NANAIMO — Rezoning bylaw that has taken three years of planning and affects thousands of persons in the Nanaimo city area has received complaints from only four individuals or companies at a hearing in city council chambers.

The bylaw, presented by the regional planning board during the past few weeks after a survey by a Nanaimo professional firm, did not receive its final reading as scheduled Monday but will await further study of presentations made by the spokesmen at the council meeting.

GIVE CHANCE

Mayor Pete Maffeo said that he wished to give everyone their chance to state their arguments.

Allan Deering, a realtor in Nanaimo, advocated that a reserve area be placed along both sides of the highways cutting through the heart of the city.

NOT PROFITABLE

He said the proposed swaths would not be profitable as residential area but should be placed on the zoning map as reserve light industrial. He said that zoning can be too definite, tending to put a value on property that can scare business to other centres.

Lawyer Robert Weir, speaking for an automotive firm that wishes to rezone two lots purchased at Prideaux and Comox Road from residential to light industrial, said that if 45 minutes of a planning commission meeting he attended was an example of three years of planning then they have all gone down the drain.

HIT REMARKS

He blasted the remarks made by commission members in passing the responsibility back to city council level and he agreed with Mr. Deering that zoning can be too definite.

Mr. Frank Anzic, a sole owner on Comox Road, was told by Mayor Pete Maffeo that he was making pretty strong statements when he said that the council was trying to devaluate his property in order to buy it at a cheaper price.

Immunization is credited for the fact that 1959 was the first year in which Canada had no deaths from diphtheria.

North Island Club

Hoo-Hoos Add Alberni Branch

PORT ALBERNI — Howard McLean was elected president when a new branch of the International Order of Hoo-Hoo was formed in the Alberni Valley.

The new club, second on Vancouver Island, will be known as the North Island Club and will include members from Nanaimo, Qualicum, Courtenay and other centres as well as the Albernis.

Purpose of the club, with a membership limited to persons in lumber producing or marketing fields, is for fellowship and the promotion of wood products.

The Order of Hoo-Hoo originated National Forest Products Week, currently being observed in Canada and the U.S.

Elected to the executive of the North Island Club with Mr. McLean were Maury Harris, secretary; Doug McNicol, treasurer; Don Beaton, Qualicum, and Thor Peterson, directors.

President Harvey McDiarmid and Ted Parker, Fred Rigley and Don McMillan of the Vancouver club attended the organizational meeting.

Scientists Discuss Fish Pact

NANAIMO — Twenty-four scientists from the United States, Canada and Japan have started a series of discussions that will end with the annual meeting of the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission in Vancouver Nov. 7.

The scientists will present to the annual meeting problems dealing with herring, salmon and halibut fishing.

The terms of the North Pacific Fisheries Treaty under which Japan agrees not to fish in North American territorial waters and Canada and the U.S. agree to practice scientific methods will be discussed at the pre-commission meetings.

Some 60 scientists and commission members will meet at Harrison Hot Springs starting Oct. 24 to decide on a permanent line at which North American and Asiatic species of herring, salmon and halibut meet on a commercially marketable and equitable basis.

A temporary line has been established 2,000 miles west of Vancouver.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS

IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats . . . actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats . . . for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Remember, Carter's not only relieve irregularity, but actually improve the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Cuba Splitting U.S., Canada

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is expected to impose strong economic sanctions against Cuba's Castro regime within the next 24 hours.

The move is certain to open a new Canadian-American rift because of Canada's unwillingness to join with its North American neighbor in the action.

Lurking in the background is the continually controversial question of American subsidiary companies operating in this country and their reaction to the differing national policies.

Official sources said economic relations with Cuban Premier Fidel Castro's government were the subject of "continuing discussions" between Washington and Ottawa.

But they discounted reports that it had reached the stage of a dispute.

A U.S. embargo on Cuban trade would lose much of its effectiveness if the needed machinery and parts of American specification were available to Castro through Canada. With this in mind, it was learned, the U.S. government has asked Canada's co-operation.

Canada's answer was made clear several days ago in a comment by Prime Minister Diefenbaker that Canada had "no intention whatsoever" of placing an embargo on Cuban trade.

Observers believe the government's refusal to join the United States in Cuban sanctions will result in pressure on U.S. subsidiaries through their parent companies to adhere to American policy anyway.

Education Report On Way

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dean S. N. F. Chant of the University of B.C. said Tuesday his report on education in British Columbia will be in the hands of the government next week.

He said the 800-page report will recommend an extensive revamping of the educational system in the province.

He said it is up to the government when the report will be made public.

Mother Guided To Well

CHEMAINUS — A two-year-old child led searchers to an old, water-filled well yesterday where the unconscious body of his playmate was floating.

More than 15 minutes earlier he had tried to warn grown-ups of the accident but could not make himself understood.

Revived after being unconscious more than 15 minutes was Keith Hess, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Murray W. Hess, North Chemainus Highway, who was partially revived by his father with mouth-to-mouth respiration.

GOOD CONDITION

He is in good condition at Chemainus Hospital.

His pal, Carl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Allester, had returned home about noon to tell his mother that Keith was in the creek and all wet.

She didn't pay any attention to him until Keith didn't answer to his mother's call. "Then it dawned on me what might have happened so we rushed to the creek," she said. "There was no water in it so we called Carl and he took us to the well."

WATER AT TOP

Mrs. Allester said the water was at the top of the well and all she had to do was pull the unconscious boy out. He had been in it at least 15 minutes.

Partial breathing was restored and Keith had started to tremble when oxygen equipment was brought by the Chemainus fire department.

He evidently pushed aside a cover over the deserted well on the property of George Robinson, another neighbor. "I could hardly lift it to put it back. I don't know how a three-year-old boy could move it," said Mrs. Allester.

Reeve Donald Morton, near the firehall when the fire department answered the call, gave the volunteers "credit for very quick response to the alarm."

Victoria Wages Soar Ahead of Living Cost

Average wages for some Greater Victoria jobs in the past four years increased as much as five times more than the rise in the cost of living, a B.C. government report shows.

Nevertheless, in almost every case, a worker in Victoria is paid less than his Vancouver counterpart.

The information is contained in the annual wage and salary rate survey of the bureau of economics and statistics and covers the average wages for 33 selected occupations from junior clerk to janitor. The survey covered 661 B.C. firms with 90,000 employees.

WHOPPING JUMP

Between July, 1956, and July of this year heavy equipment operators saw their wages increase by a whopping 38.9 per cent in Victoria. Lowest increase in average salaries during the same period was the 9.5 per cent received by light truck drivers.

The bureau said the consumers' price index, generally taken as the cost of living, during this period rose by about 7 per cent.

OTHER FIGURES

Percentage increases for some occupations: junior clerk-typist, 14 per cent; senior clerk-typist, 16.7 per cent; junior stenographer, 20.9 per cent; stenographer, 19.7 per cent; bookkeeper, 13.4 per cent; telephone operator, 22.4.

Draughtsman, 9.8 per cent; janitor, 14.4 per cent; medium truck driver, 26.1 per cent; car mechanic, 28.2 per cent; carpenter, 31.7 per cent; labor foreman, 25.5 per cent.

Worst off is a draughtsman in training. Average wage in Victoria is $175 a month, in Vancouver $301.

Scarlet Fever Cases Doubled in Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The incidence of scarlet fever and "strep" throat more than doubled in Canada last year. There were more cases than in any year since 1924, when national records first were kept.

The bureau of statistics list showed 22,607 cases of the disease, an increase of 103.3 per cent from 1958.

Worst Fire Since Blitz

MANCHESTER (Reuters) —One of the worst fires since the wartime blitz roared through a warehouse in the heart of this northern England industrial city early today.

The fire sent flames shooting 100 feet high from the six-storey, 300-foot-long building filled with furniture and cotton goods.

The fire could be seen 10 miles away.

Civil Defence Rally

Mayors, Reeves Doze As Lecturer Drones

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Mayor L. A. Read said Monday night a recent Western conference on civil defence in Edmonton was so boring that mayors and reeves attending had a hard time staying awake.

The mayor told city council that because of untrained lecturers the 80 municipal leaders gained little from the conference.

British Columbia delegates were so disturbed they held a caucus and Reeve Allan Emmott of Burnaby was appointed to express the group's dissatisfaction.

Mayor Read said the lectures lasted 3½ days and the meeting "became for most of us very boring."

"One cause was that these lecturers had not been trained. They were army or air force or navy personnel who had been retired and put into these jobs."

Without criticizing the speakers' enthusiasm and depth of knowledge, he felt they could have been a little more "magnetic."

Jet Tanker Hits Island

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. (AP)—A huge U.S. Air Force jet tanker carrying seven crew members crashed and burned at the edge of an island bombing range near here Tuesday night. The air force said there were no survivors.

The J tanker, designed to refuel as many as three jet fighters, came down near the shore of Plumtree Island, a few miles northeast of here, shortly after take-off. It burst into towering flames on impact.

Eye Sign Foils Kidnap Plot

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — The mother of a kidnapped baby foiled the abductor's ransom scheme Tuesday by sending out a distress signal with her eyes, the Federal Bureau of Investigation reported.

This is the story the FBI told:

James Reinhardt, 24, a friend of Mrs. Betty Utterback, a widow, went to the Utterback home and left with her 21-months old daughter, saying he was taking the child on a shopping trip.

Fifteen minutes later Reinhardt returned without the baby and told Mrs. Utterback he wanted $8,500 for her return.

Reinhardt forced Mrs. Utterback to accompany him to her bank and stood near her as she started to make a withdrawal, the FBI said.

"She gave me a sign with her eyes that something was wrong," said bank operations officer Barney L. Kotrbe.

Kotrbe gave a sign to another employee, who called the FBI.

Kotrbe said he stalled as long as he could, then gave Mrs. Utterback a bag containing $8,500.

FBI agents entered as Reinhardt and the woman were leaving. Reinhardt was seized; the child was recovered safely.

Dag Fights Budget Slice

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) —Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold struck back Tuesday at Russia's attempt to cut the UN budget. He said the Soviet move would rob the UN of "its possibilities of action in the preservation of peace."

Hammarskjold's 1961 budget is $67,500,000; Russia wants a $50,000,000 ceiling.

China Entry In B.C. Fair?

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the British Columbia 1961 International Trade Fair said Tuesday Communist China will probably be asked to exhibit.

William J. Borrie said, "I don't see why we should neglect such a large market. We may look back in a couple of months and regret it."

Onus Put on Doctors To Provide Option

REGINA (CP) — General secretary Dr. A. D. Kelly of the Canadian Medical Association said Tuesday the medical profession must be prepared to offer a solution to state medicine.

In an attack on the Saskatchewan CCF government's prepaid compulsory medical plan, to be in operation early in 1962, Dr. Kelly told the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons convention compulsory, tax-supported programs are neither necessary or desirable.

Dr. Kelly said doctors must propose an acceptable alternative to compulsory medical care plans that will do justice to the needs of the people and allow doctors to work harmoniously and in co-operation.

He said the Saskatchewan college is working on an alternative proposal to present to the government.

"It's not for me to spell out the details of this proposal but I assure you it is under very serious study."

Full Health Insurance New Party's Target

LAKEFIELD, Ont. (CP)—Ontario CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald said Tuesday night a full health insurance plan for all Canadians is a major plank in the New Party's platform now being drafted for submission to the founding convention in Ottawa next summer.

He said some 50 university professors from across Canada will meet in Toronto this weekend "to do a solid job of rethinking on some of the more difficult areas of public policy" in preparation for the final draft of the New Party program.
